There will always be time . . .

Precision of the universe—stardust of eternity—

Though non-existent, it is never-ending,

For it lives on through all our memories,

Mixing moments of joy with sorrow and dreams.

Man's gauge of progress through the years, it is Tangible, yet intangible—measurable, yet immeasurable.

Time waits for no man, and no wise man waits for it;

Nor can it be recovered, once it is lost.

It's a rhythm of living whose meter may be

The quick tempo of youth or the slow pace of age.

From morning star to sunset fire it turns,

Filled with beauty and fear, with hope and desire.

Wisely or foolishly, wastefully or thoughtfully,

Each man may use his portion as he wills. . . .

If wisely we have made the minutes count

Through all our days at school, then we may hope

To know success in the years that lie ahead.

Hence, Time is our theme. . . . . for

D. Hel (:k),
You're a real great kid

people have given their time . . .

to make the school a full, happy world within itself, where personality and leadership as well as scholastic ability are developed . . . to assist with student self-government and school services, such as the operation of the Book Room and the Book Shop . . . to carry on the extracurricular work of the school in sports, publications, art, music, and drama, hobby clubs, and social organizations. Joyce Yoachum

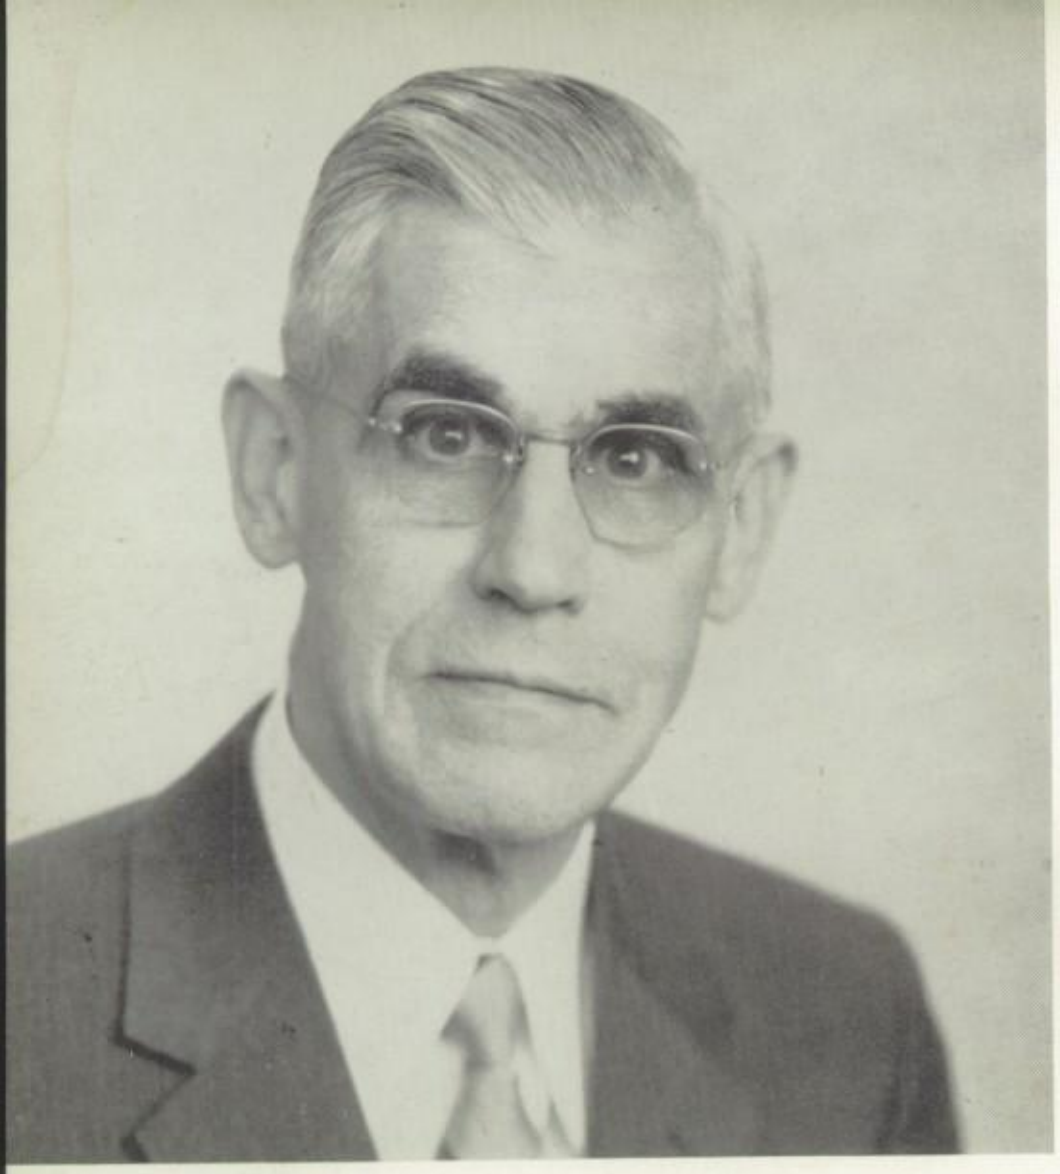
Mr. Augback



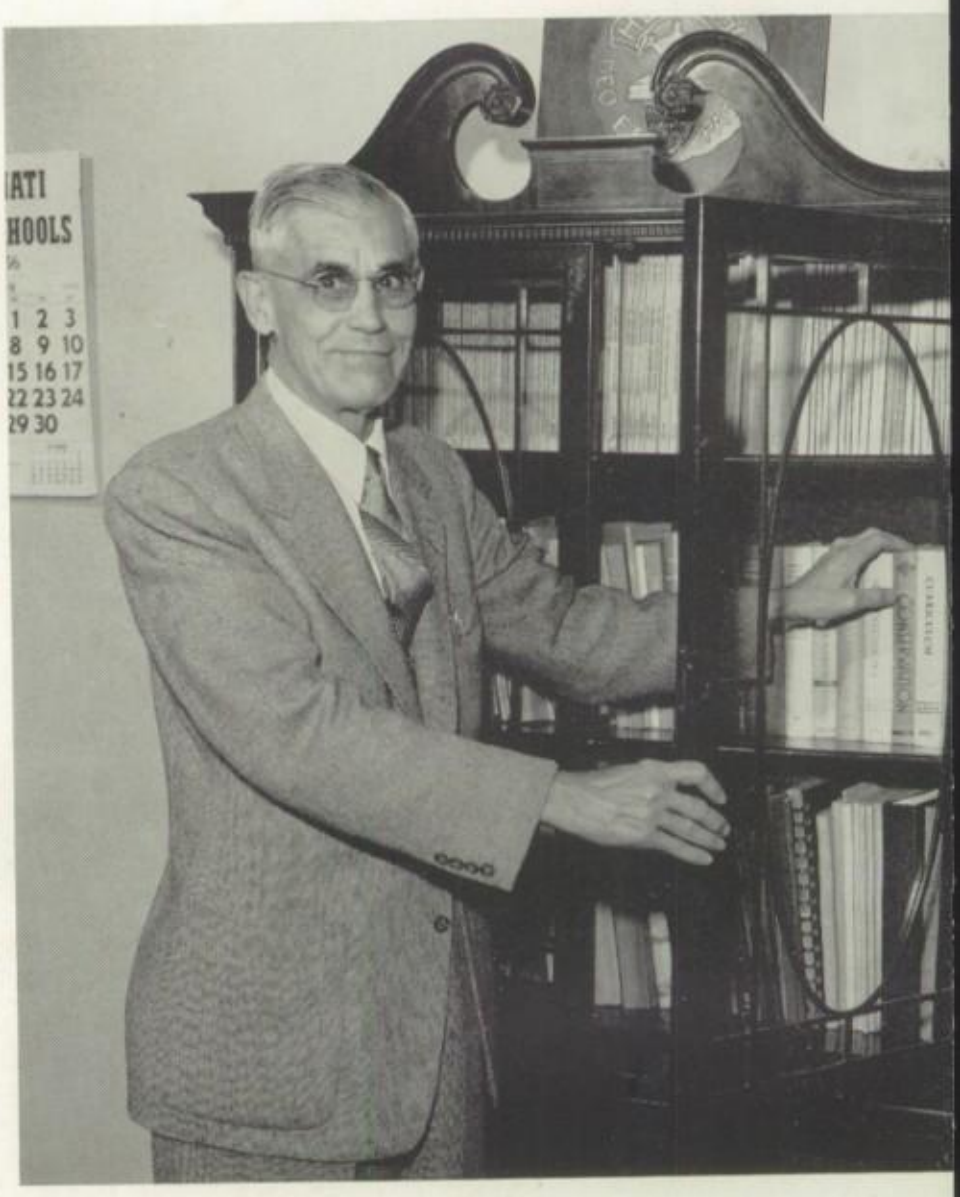
Promptly at 7:15 every morning, Mr. Kizer starts his day at Hughes, a routine he has followed for 28 years. Back in 1919, Mr. Kizer began his career at Hughes as a math teacher, but after four years, he became assistant principal, and held this position until he went to Hartwell High School in 1940 as principal. In 1945 he returned to Hughes, as principal, to renew his inspirational leadership and his unceasing efforts to make better citizens of Hughes students. His greatest gift, perhaps, is that of patience bestowed upon those who are stubborn about learning. His great love for Hughes makes him beloved by all at Hughes.

My story begins at any time during the year 1937-38, a year similar to every other year in that it possessed its full share of joys and anxieties. The children born that year are the characters of my story, and they are important because without them, the story could not be written.

In 1942 or 1943, they came face to face with a new environment, for around the corner stood the school house. Here they met other boys and girls, and with them struggled with the ABC's and with the recognition of numbers.

During the years 1943 through 1949, my characters acquired not only the fundamentals of reading, writing, and arithmetic, but also began to use this knowledge in solving new problems. Now, with the completion of that all-important interval from 1950-56, the junior and senior high school years, my story comes to an end, for my characters are graduating in June, 1956.

As you may have guessed, this is your life. Your present feeling of accomplishment is directly commensurate with the degree of effort you have expended. If you have not short-changed yourselves in laying a firm foundation for your many goals, future success is rightfully yours . . . and may you achieve it! Whether or not you do, only time can tell.



Our principal gives timely advice

Assistant principals manage many details

Mr. Ben F. Fulks, Assistant Principal of Hughes for the last seven years, manages the Book Shop, where student supplies are sold, and has complete charge of all textbooks. This busy keeper of the keys supervises lunchline deportment, handles money collections, lockers, visual aid equipment, and discipline. He takes pleasure in being the enthusiastic sponsor of Hughes Club.

Miss Margaret E. Hall, Dean of Girls, carries on personal, educational, and vocational counseling for Senior High girls. She writes excuses for absence and tardiness, and has charge of the Emergency Room. She also organizes all scholarship information and helps worthy students get the scholarships they need.

Mr. Joseph Ayer, Assistant Principal and newcomer to the Hughes faculty, shares the responsibility for the Junior High group. He takes charge of boys' attendance, discipline, and guidance. This year he acted as general chairman for the Carnival. He is also Assistant Principal of West Night High School, which meets in the Hughes building.

This year, Mrs. Raible, who has managed our lunchroom for eight years, has served lunches to more than 2,700 students and 100 teachers daily. Moreover, she has given generously of her time in planning and serving P.T.A. dinners, after-school teas for many clubs, and special orders for homeroom parties.

Any girl from grade seven through grade twelve may avail herself of the opportunity to become a better homemaker by taking the Home Economics course. Here, in well-equipped kitchens, she will study the wheel of good eating and good health, and she will learn how to prepare food on a meal basis. Using the school's up-to-date sewing equipment, she will also be taught how to plan, select, and make her own clothes.

Other subjects covered in the course include child care, marketing, consumer education, both in foods and in clothing, safety in the home, and happy family relationships.

When the timer rings, Barbara Butler hastens to take the pie from the oven, while Rosalee Crauder and Joyce Taulbee continue other kitchen tasks.

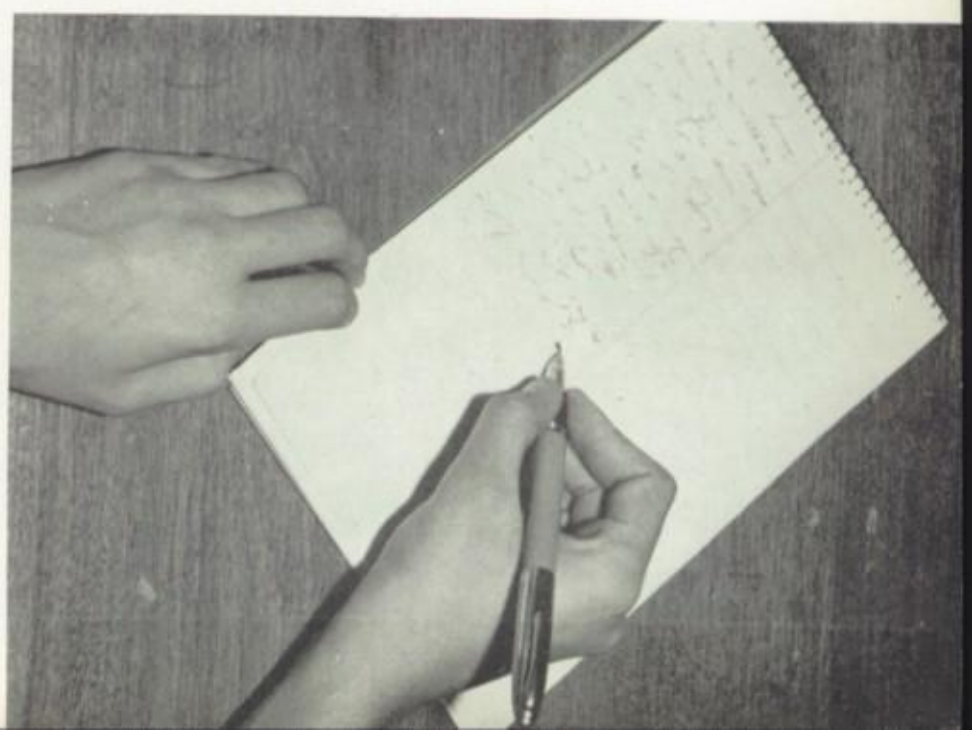
Business courses teach trade tricks

Girls in Miss Evans's typing class take a speed test.

Typing, Shorthand, Secretarial Practice, Office Practice, General Business, Merchandising, and Salesmanship are courses offered to prepare Hughes students to take office jobs after graduation. Many students take typing because they know that typed manuscript reports are required in college.

Special instruction is given by Miss Skinner in her Office Practice group to familiarize students with all types of office machines such as the adding-listing, calculator, transcription, and duplication machines. A volunteer staff of students known as Miss Levine's Production Staff, turns out many typing and duplicating jobs for the school files, as well as for special school events and records.

Students accepted for Merchandising do part-time work in downtown stores four afternoons a week.



Shorthand shortens working time.

Music maestros teach tempo and rhythm

With an upbeat from the batons of Mr. Herman Slayman, Mr. Bige Hammons, and the newly-arrived Mr. Stanley Yuellig, the indispensable and justly-famous Hughes Music Department began its busy year. Senior Choir and Ensemble, taught by Mr. Hammons, fulfilled many out-of-school engagements. Junior Choir was coached by Mr. Yuellig. The Orchestra, Marching Band, and Dance Band, under Mr. Slayman's direction, provided tuneful music for games, concerts, teas, dances, the Carnival, and Merry-Go-Round.

Tom Strunk supplies the tempo and the accompaniment as Ken Thomason, Willie Webster, Gloria Evans, Nancy Lipka, and Carol Moran sing the lyrics.

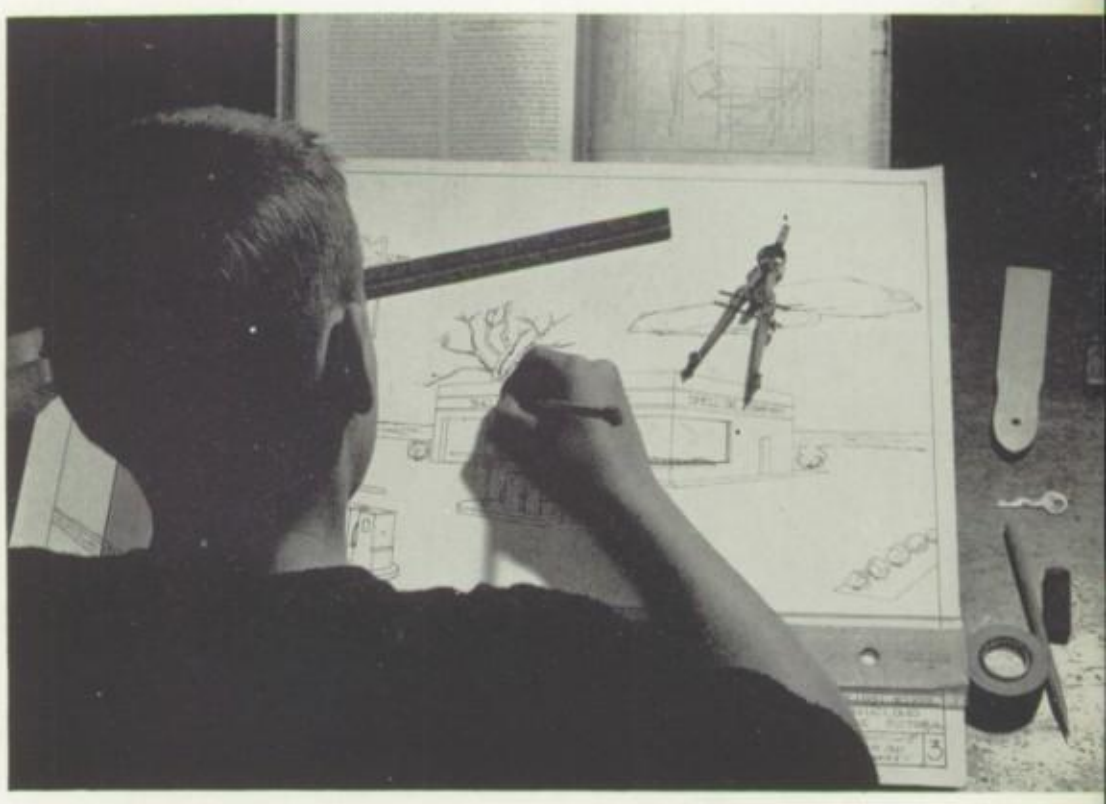
The Industrial Arts courses rightfully begin with a study of Mechanical Drawing in which the problems of industrial design are taught. Using straight rules, T-squares, compasses, drawing ink, and pens, beginning draftsmen spend hours in perfecting the complicated blueprints of a house.

In the Department of Graphic Arts, the boys begin their apprenticeships in master printing by learning how to set type, to handle engraving cuts, and to clean and operate the printing press. This department has more than ample practical experience, for it prints many school forms, as well as tickets, programs, covers, and posters for every school function. Printing students also make silk screen and linoleum block prints.



Clock-like precision and accuracy are required in Mechanical Drawing.

Precision makes for shop perfection

Learning by doing

Hughes operates four shops—Printing, Woodworking, Metalworking, and Electricity. Here students not planning to go to college can obtain practical experience in learning a trade.

From the ground floor of the southwest end of the building can be heard the loud roar of the bandsaw or the rhythmic beat of a hammer as a piece of plain lumber is fashioned into a beautiful end table in the Woodworking Shop. And after the table is made, it must be stained and varnished, and rubbed down to a fine finish. Students pay a minimum fee for their materials and are then allowed to take home the products of their labor.

Nearby, in the Metalworking Shop, a metal lathe is trimming down a steel rod faster than the human eye can follow, while an electric saw cuts a piece of copper to exact size.

Not far away, watts and ohms, negative and positive currents, voltage meters, and the precision ticking of the school's electric clocks are under discussion in the Electricity Shop. Learning the practical applications of the science of electronics is a must in this age of public address systems, radio, and television.

Jim Reynolds and Dan Mitchell use the upright drill in the Metal Workshop.

Jack Adams learns from Mr. William Creighton how to test the voltage of a miniature radio.

Don Walsh observes George Bitsoff as he uses the bandsaw to cut a shelf panel.

Health and Safety taught

Every senior must spend two and a half periods a week in Senior Health, a subject which includes First Aid, Home Nursing, and Social and Mental Health. The Red Cross requires twenty hours of study before granting a certificate which qualifies the student to practice First Aid. Home Nursing, which deals with the care of the sick at home, must be completed by mid-term. The study of Mental and Social Health is enriched by the use of excellent sound movies.

Driver Education, a requirement for graduation, acquaints the students with the rules of the road, the nature of the automobile, and the fundamentals of good driving. The Ohio Driver's Manual, published by the Department of Highway Safety, is studied, and tests are given on the rules for passing and stopping, speed limits, required hand signals, and brake performance. Driver Training, a fifteen-hour course separated from Driver Education, gives valuable behind-the-wheel practice. Mr. Ralph Sensel uses a dual-operated Plymouth in giving instruction necessary for passing the Ohio driver's license test.

Foreign tenses tantalize our tongues

In these times the need for understanding among the peoples of the world is essential if peace is to be preserved and our civilization is to continue.

In effecting this understanding, the knowledge of foreign languages plays a key role. Moreover, the world becomes comparatively smaller because of our improved systems of communication and transportation, trade becomes more international, making it increasingly important that language barriers be eliminated.

Hughes students may get a basic language foundation by studying Latin, or they may begin with a modern language—French, German, or Spanish.

Under the capable direction of Miss Mary Boland and her assistant, Miss Polly Lynd, the Hughes library has become increasingly more useful and inspirational, both to the students and to the faculty. Students find their reading interests awakened not only by clever displays, but also by personal stimulation from the librarians, who also never seem to tire in their desire to be of service.

New books are reviewed, purchased, and publicized. All magazines and visual aid materials are properly catalogued and made easily accessible. Classes in how to use the resources of our library are held in Room 214. All in all, we can be justly proud of our Hughes library.

Students who devote their time to keeping the Library in order are: James Melton (kneeling), James Weiss, Jill Borneman, Nancy Dale, Jody Weghorst, and Patricia Staten.

Time-out for body-building in the gym

"Go!" shouts the coach, and the boys in gym classes start off on a ten-lap run around the track in their well-equipped gym. But running is only one exercise by which Hughes students help to keep their bodies trim and healthy. Necessary calisthenics are always part of the body-developing routine, while games of basketball, baseball, and volleyball teach good sportsmanship and cooperation, and aid in exhausting excessive energy. The girls' gym classes are handled in much the same way, with emphasis on participation in many games. Every Hughes student, according to the present system, is required to take three years of physical education, and one year of Health and First Aid. Swimming is offered as an elective in the fourth year.

Other elective English courses include Public Speaking, Speech, and Journalism. Through the eleventh grade, however, English is required, and classes are organized as A, B, or C groups, Special English, or Commercial English. Hughes students read and interpret the works of famous authors, past and present; they also strive to express themselves more fluently both in oral and written language. Instruction in remedial reading is also given.

Math holds the key to the future

Our present day civilization demands that everyone be somewhat familiar with the language of numbers. At Hughes we may elect General Math, Business Math, Algebra, Plane Geometry, Solid Geometry, or Trigonometry.

Math helps us to put first things first, to reason out our problems, and to be accurate in all tasks, whether we work with simple sums or complicated equations. Working with graphs, compasses, and slide rules, we learn the lesson of precision which is so invaluable in our atomic age.

History reveals secrets of yesterdays

Era by era, the pageant of our planet from the Stone Age to the Atomic Age unfolds for us in World History classes. Our own country's birth and development are studied in American History. Current events and issues are discussed, and their significance for us appraised, in American Problems. Our economic system and the relationships among peoples are the subjects of Economics and Sociology.

The wise man can profit by the mistakes and successes of others. An intelligent study of the past in History classes can help us toward a productive approach to the future, and should prepare us to contribute—individually and in groups—to the welfare of the human race.

Pat Breen and Neil Austing spend many hours replacing books returned to the book room.

The lunchline guards who keep order in the lunchroom are Don Jordan, Jack Snarr, Milton Hauck, Bob Reece, Richard Roberts, Dave Campbell, Dick Schwab, Wells Woodley, Ron Adler, Dreman Cook, Ray Apple, Ron Blackstone, Smith Hammelrath, Ray Sweeny, Jim Johnston, Wayne Adams, Clarence Koeniger, Jay Hughes, Butch Fischer, Bob Baine, Ron Walker, and Bill Hewett.

The cheerful "ding-dong" which calls us to lunch is sent out by Roy Hackemeyer and Edmund Kellerman.

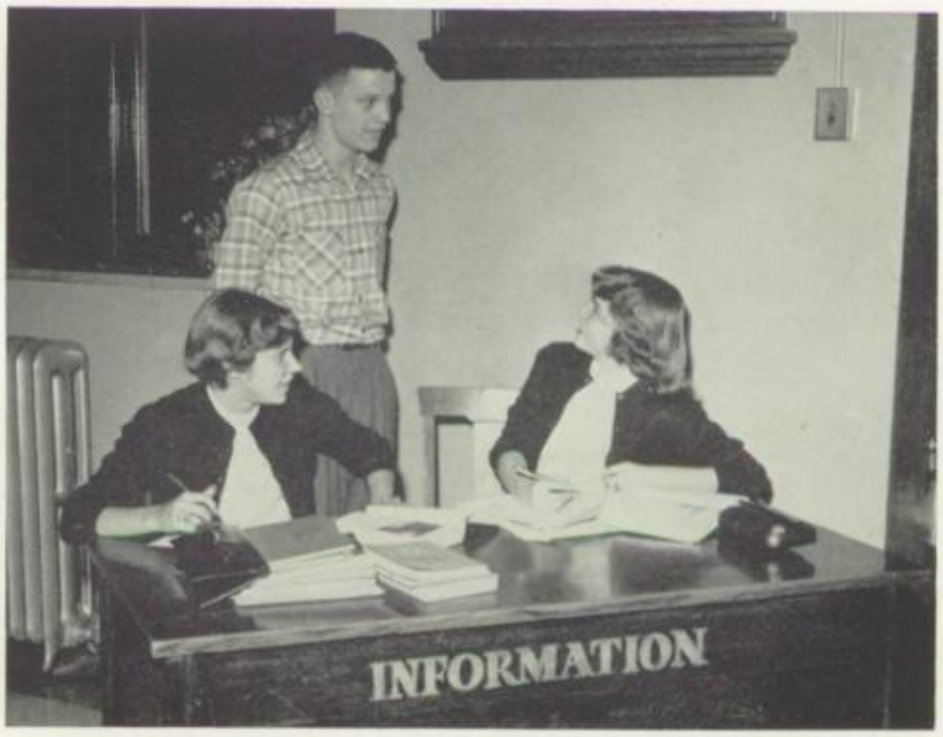
Assistants

Lunchroom cashiers are Barbara Schepman, Mary Lynn Grogg, Eric Mende, Emory Morris, Albert Bailer, Pat Wibben, Pauline Siebold, Bob Reuss, Janice Freckman, Betty Wesley, Anne Morrison, Dave Senn, Pat Zoller, Virginia Ball, Ester Anschutz, Joan Widmer, Patsy Clippard.

Three of the many office workers, Mary Eiselein, Sue Parker, and Sue Zeigler, check up on the list of absentees.

Charles Hanekamp, the treasurer's helper, takes the school's money to the bank every day.



Jim Phelps inquires the whereabouts of Mr. Fulks from Shirlene Dixon and Pat Clark.

Those cheerful voices which brighten up the morning bulletin over the P.A. system belong to Rodger Crauder, John Biedenkapp, Jerry Stivers, Fred Pfeffer, Tom Minnich, Gordon Furukawa, and Charles Williamson.

Tickets for every school function are sold by Miss Rasche's committee, which includes Jeannine Shutte, Harry Saulsbury, Dave Yoder, Polly Gooder, Bob Hesford, Harriet Perkins, Gwen Saunders, Sylvia Jacobs, Pat Macke, Butch Fischer, and Judy Jesse (seated).

Jim Grimes.

All too swiftly the sands of the school year have slipped through the hour glass to bring us face to face with the realization that our high school days can never be recaptured except in memories. But memories there will be aplenty — some bright, some dim — of the numerous activities which crowded our last year.

Led by President Jim Grimes, the Class of '56 initiated the busy year with the "Hello Hughes" program to help orient newcomers. Soon class meetings and Tuesday morning guidance sessions were under way with a Program Committee responsible for securing speakers and movies, assisted by the homeroom advisers, Mrs. Enolia Heile, Miss Aria Parke Schawe, and Mr. Paul Bowers.

The Ways and Means Committee, headed by Jim Phelps, brought in funds and frolic as they sold caramel apples and greeting cards, and made plans for the Senior Follies, and for the class gift to the school. Unforgettable events of the year included the Christmas party, the Prom Queen crowning, and graduation.

With the last event in mind, we are reminded that "Time is God's gift to man," and we ask ourselves if we have made the most of this gift. Very shortly, as we enter college or the business world, we shall reveal to ourselves and to others the answer to this question.

Three Roger Bacon tacklers try to catch slippery Fred Macklin (21) as he scampers around end.

The Hughes football team placed sixth in the P.H.S.L. with a 1-5 record. Going from the championship in 1954 to a low sixth place may seem an unsuccessful season, but there is every reason to hope for another championship next year. The team, composed mainly of underclassmen, gained the experience needed for a high caliber squad.

The Varsity Team finished with an overall 1-8 record. The Reserve Team, coached by Mr. Lloyd Williams, ended with a 2-4 slate. The Junior High Team, coached by Mr. Will Hundemer, fared even better than their big brothers with a 3-2-3 record.

Next year's eleven will miss the services of Captain Charles Whitehead, Dick Melchiorre, Tom Jaeger, John Biedenkapp, Ron Hardert, and Donn Goebel, whose blocking and hard charging formed the forward wall for Hughes. The skill of men such as Lucious Hughes, Joe Breiner, Carl Adkins, and Charles Brunner will leave holes in the defensive unit. Most of the regular backfield will return next season; Jim Tarter is the only graduate.

The nucleus of the '56 team will be centered around the juniors and sophomores who looked promising during the 1955 season. Howard Boorom, center; Jim Muckenfuss, guard; Paul Mueller and Bob Hauser, two defensive backs; Ray Eisenschmidt, end; Rick Forste, tackle, and Walt Peters, Fred Macklin, Jim Acton, Jack Horton, and Bill Daniels, all backs, are among these players.

With these hopefuls in 1956, Hughes can once more expect a winning season.

Cheerleaders vibrate with vim and vigor

Fred Macklin (21), with the screening aid of Larry Robinson (17), Bill Daniels (51), Doug Copenhaver (76), and Howard Hudson (35), grinds out yardage against Western Hills.

A speedy halfback spoiled Hughes' debut against Dayton Dunbar. After being behind the Hughes score twice, Dunbar came back to win 18-12.

Fred Macklin drew the first Big Red score on a four yard run following Bob Houser's recovery of a Dunbar fumble. Bill Bentley, Dayton back, broke loose with a 70-yard jaunt to tie the score. Again Macklin and Bentley scored on dashes of 17 and 11 yards, respectively. During the third quarter, Bentley swept the end for 78 yards and the winning touchdown.

The Roger Bacon contest was a thriller as the Spartans edged the Big Reds 7-6.

The Spartans scored first on an 18 yard run. Walt Roecker ran the extra point that proved to be the deciding factor. Tom Jaeger, recovering a Bacon fumble, set up a touchdown for Hughes, and Macklin barreled over for the score. The conversion was bad and the game ended 7-6.

St. Xavier overpowered Hughes by the score of 33-12.

The Bombers started off by scoring two touchdowns. Fred Macklin put the Big Reds on the scoreboard with a 58-yard scurry, off tackle. Then St. "X" poured on the steam, scoring three touchdowns. Jim Carter carried the pigskin for 14 yards, giving the Big Reds their second and final tally.

The three-game losing streak finally ended when Hughes defeated Woodward, 18-6. Macklin and Daniels provided the offensive punch for the Big Reds.

Woodward kicked off and Hughes marched 75 yards for the T-D. Macklin went off tackle for five yards to provide the tally. Near halftime, wingback Bill Daniels broke loose for a 42-yard run, giving Hughes their second score.

Woodward came back with a touchdown in the third quarter, but never again reached paydirt. In the fourth quarter, Mackin swept around end for five yards and the final score.

Time for Pep! Cheerleaders sparking the sports season are: Wesley Welborne, Gerri Clark, Bob Vollat, Nelda Norton, Dick Junker, Mary Eiselein, Neil Austing, Nancy Burton (Captain).

Hughes tasted defeat at the hands of Western Hills by the score of 21-13 in a nip and tuck game.

The Mustangs scored first on a 20-yard drive, but Hughes responded with two tallies—Macklin, on a 23-yard tackle dash, and Ray Eisenschmidt on a 37-yard pass from Macklin. A second-half march, ending in a West Hi touchdown, provided them with the winning margin.

Taft, scoring seven touchdowns and rolling up 43 points, beat Hughes, 43-13.

A Senator quarterback fumbled in the end zone, and Lucious Hughes fell on the ball for the touchdown. In the final quarter, John Biedenkapp scored a most unusual touchdown. Taft, attempting to punt from their end zone, kicked straight up in the air. The ball fell into the hands of astonished Biedenkapp.

Walnut Hills handed Hughes its sixth loss in seven games by the score of 20-6.

The Big Red drew first blood, as Jack Horton connected with a 20-yard pass to Ray Eisenschmidt. Walnut Hills retaliated to lead at halftime, 7-6. The Eagles came back with three more touchdowns in the second half to win.

Gloom filled the hearts of all Huzites as our hearty team was beaten by their rivals, Withrow.

The Tigers scored 20 points in the first quarter, 19 in the second, 14 in the third, and 7 in the last quarter to make the final tally 59-0.

Freshmen ranks look promising

Football fans were kept enthusiastic at all games through the combined efforts of the Big Red Marching Band, the sparkling Rhythmettes, the peppy cheerleaders, and the hard working Pep Club.

When excited Hughes rooters pleaded "Time for Pep," the answer was promptly delivered by the cheerleaders, headed by Nancy Burton. She was ably supported by the strong voices of Neil Austing, Dick Junker, Mary Eiselein, Gerri Clark, Wesley Welborne, Nelda Norton, and Bob Vollat, who yelled out, "We want some A-C-T-I-O-N."

Spirited half-time shows of the Big Red Marching Band spotlighted talent, directed by Mr. Herman H. Slayman. The Band practiced every sixth bell to perfect the clever shows performed by the marching maestros during the football season. Producing such melodies as the fight song, "Touchdown," and various marches, the Band brought added zest and color to the fall nights. The Rhythmettes, a girls' chorus line performing with the Band, riveted the attention of the fans on the field as they "strutted their stuff" at several games.

To organize and keep alive school spirit is the purpose of Pep Club, whose president this year was Harriet Perkins. Their activities before the games included arranging lively pep assemblies, making colorful posters dreamed up by enthusiastic members, and sponsoring their annual Red and White Day, when everyone was asked to wear Hughes colors.

At the games Hughes students belonging to Pep Club were given red and white shakers, which they shook zestfully in tune with their cheering to enliven the games. Certain Pep Club guards were authorized to hand out and to collect these shakers and to punch members' cards at the games. Guards for 1955 were: Larry Mack, Tom Leppert, Wayne Lenning, Don Jordan, Bob Perkins, Gordon Queen, Terry Dempsey, and Cliff Holste.

During football season and later during basketball season, pep assemblies played an important role in stimulating and in keeping alive school spirit. Producing and taking part in the assemblies were the Band, cheerleaders, and Pep Club. Scripts for these assemblies, written by Mr. Robert Portune, made use of the Band, the cheerleaders, the teams, the coaches, and various members of Pep Club.

Coach Alan C. Kindschy

Coach Alan Kindschy's harriers, led by Co-Captains Ron Walker and Ron Blackstone, climaxed their 1955 season with fourth place in the P.H.S.L. and a fourth place in the District Meet.

The hardworking Big Reds, although handicapped by the injuries of Co-Captain Ron Walker, came in sixth the first meet, third the second meet, and third the third meet to finish fourth in the P.H.S.L.

In the district meet the Big Reds came in fourth with Terry Davis and Walter Cooper placing in the first twenty. The harriers just missed a chance to go to the state meet by placing fourth instead of third.

Outstanding work done by sophomores Terry Davis and Walter Cooper along with seniors Tom Bepler, Jim Johnston, Ron Blackstone, and Carlton Walker made the Big Reds a team hard to beat. Filling out the Varsity team were: Ron Walker, Griffin Crawford, and Ray Sweeny.

Showing up their elder brothers, the Hughes Reserve Harriers finished first in the P.H.S.L. by taking a third in the first meet and placing first in the second and third meets. Senior Vaughn Cooper and sophomore Charles Schneider sparked the Little Reds to the crown.

Hughes Junior High Harriers ran only two practice meets this year. Both of the meets were against Western Hills. Jim Sheets and Tom Whitaker seemed to be the best prospects on the Baby Red team.

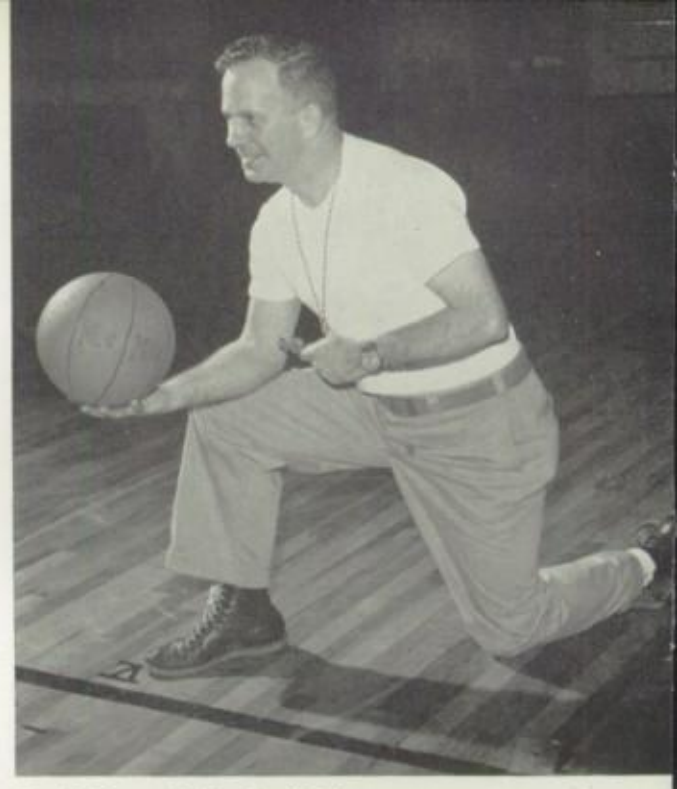
"Burley's" basketball boys



Coach Howard "Burley" Grimes

1956 was another prosperous year for the Big Red basketeers and Coach Howard "Burley" Grimes. The basketball squad, with a 21-4 record, captured the P.H.S.L. and District trophies, and claimed the runner-up spot in the Southwestern Ohio Regional Class A-Tournament.

During this season, Hughes captured its fifth District title, its eleventh P.H.S.L. crown and chalked up 19 consecutive victories, breaking last year's record of 17 consecutive wins.

Coach Grimes' squad was centered around eight senior players. Co-captain Ray Apple, forward, was the team's leading scorer, with a total of 344 points. Ray was honored by the three Cincinnati newspapers by being acclaimed All-City Captain. He also was chosen on the All-State second team.

The other co-captain and forward, Ron Blackstone, was a defensive and rebounding standout. His scoring in tight spots proved of great value to the team. Steve Gooder, the squad's third forward, played a main part in the success of the Big Reds with his rebounding and jump shots.

John Smith showed his ability as a high scoring and rebounding center. His improved playing was especially helpful in the latter part of the season. Gil McKitric, his alternate, had a soft touch under the basket that gave Hughes a boost during the competition.

Jim Grimes, guard, was a high scorer with his outside shooting and lay-ups. Besides this, he was a constant scrapper, stealing the ball consistently. Tom Morrical, the other guard, proved himself with his speed and agility. His two-hand push-shot seemed never to miss. Carlton Walker, the alternate guard, was a top-notch floor man and playmaker. His accurate passes and expert ball-handling helped Hughes gain full control of the ball.

beat rivals to win City, District titles

Larry Smith, Paul Westerfeld, Elvin Turner, Dave Campbell, and Walt Peters gained experience which will be valuable to them next year when they will constitute the court quintet.

For the second straight year "Burley's" boys copped the PHSL title. After dropping their first city league game to Taft by three points, the Big Reds came back and won eleven straight from the city high schools. Before the District Tournament began, Hughes boasted a record of 15-3.

For two years the Hughes hoopsters have chalked up an outstanding 46-6 record.

Hughes is the only Cincinnati team to win the Class A District title for two consecutive years. This year the Big Reds scored victories over Fairfield, Roger Bacon, Walnut Hills, Elder, and St. Xavier to claim the title.

Their initial victory was scored over Fairfield, 76-49. Ray Apple, showing his usual accuracy and skill, pumped in 26 points.

Roger Bacon pressed Hughes to the final second before they succumbed, 47-45. With the game tied and 50 seconds left to play, Hughes froze the ball. In the last 13 seconds, Jim Grimes laid the ball in for the winning margin, after a pass from Ray Apple.

Walnut Hills lost out in their attempt to upset Hughes. Ray Apple scored 12 points for the Hughes team. In the fourth quarter, Tom Morrical with a lay-up, put the Big Reds out in front, 52-46.

With John Smith and Ron Blackstone in a fourth quarter rally, Hughes turned back Elder, 60-48. Blackstone and Smith had 17 and 13 points, respectively.

Hughes won the championship thriller 60-58. Ray Apple tossed in a one-hand jump shot in the final four seconds to give the winning margin. He ended with 16 points, and John Smith tallied 12.

The Big Reds defeated a stubborn Troy team in the first game of the Regionals, but fell before the onslaught of the Middletown "Middies" in the finals 98-65.

Hughes, experiencing a slow first half, rallied in the second to defeat Troy 80-63. Ray Apple finished with 20 points and John Smith followed with 13.

In the Middletown contest, Hughes held All-State Jerry Lucas to 22 points but couldn't stop guard Bob Cole, who scored 37 points. Ray Apple scored 20 points, and Gil McKitric totaled 15 points.

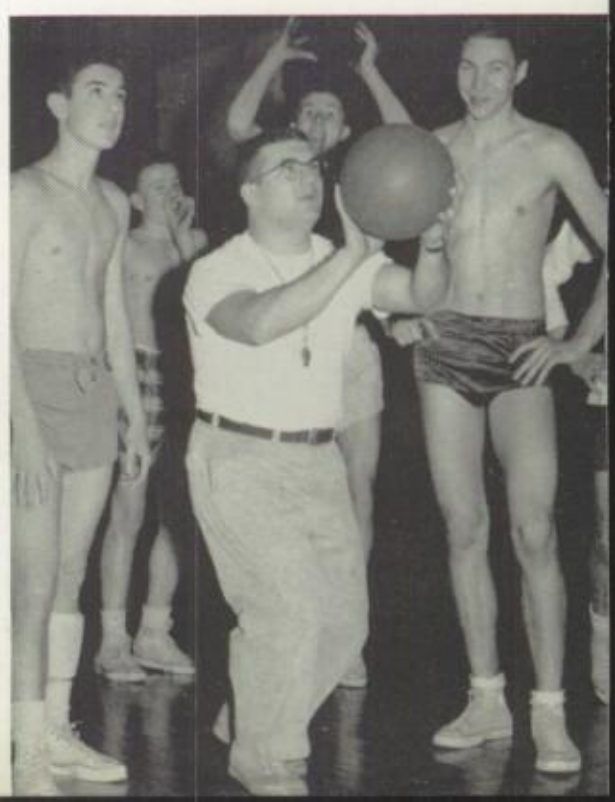
Reserve coach, Mr. Lloyd Williams, shows an accurate technique in foul shooting.



Freshmen hailed as hardy hoopsters

The Reserves, coached by Mr. Lloyd Williams, finished the season with a 2-15 record and a 1-11 mark in the P.H.S.L., placing seventh in the league standing.

Ray Eisenschmidt, center, aided in making rebounds and tip-ins, and was the squad's potential pointmaker. Steve Clark, Bill Johnson, and Bill Daniels served the team in the forward slots. Glenn Welch and George Mitchell completed the team as valuable guards.

Sporting a 11-1 record, the Freshman squad, composed of Junior High boys and mentored by Mr. Charles Powers, captured the co-championship in the city league. After winning ten straight games, the "Baby Reds" dropped their final game to their co-champion, Porter.

Playing top-notch basketball were Tom Whitaker, Les Hoskins, Al Huetcher, and Jim Addler.

Senior mermen practice medley relay for time.

The Hughes mermen, under the rebuilding process of their new coach, "Will" Hundermer, managed to finish in fourth place in the Public High School League this year under strenuous competition. During this season the Big Reds have shown marked improvement over last year's team.

After losing their first two dual meets to Xavier and Purcell, the mermen managed to come back and defeat the strong "Middies" of Middletown by seven points and literally "trounced" the swimmers of Newport by a score of 58-5.

The final results of city competition showed Hughes in fourth place with Walnut Hills again finishing on top. In the District competition ten teams participated. The Big Reds, handicapped by several poor breaks, finished in seventh place. Walnut Hills came through in first place with Withrow ranking second.

Medals were awarded to Robert Reuss, Charles Fischer, Jim Carter, and Dave Cook in the 200-yard senior relay, and to Howard Boorom, who finished third in the diving competition. These boys, along with Dick Zucker who placed fifth in the 200-yard freestyle event, competed in the State Meet at Columbus. The Senior 200-yard relay team has an excellent chance to win honors for Hughes.

The Junior Team, known as the "Little Reds," finished seventh in P.H.S.L. competition.

Mermen pool efforts to place fourth

Looking forward toward next year, the coach expects an improved team to boost Hughes to the top spot. Although the Big Reds are losing such lettermen as Butch Fischer, Jay Hughes, Bill Hewett, Dave Cook, John Hochstrasser, and Jack Snarr, there are several promising lettermen who will return. Leading the team in the free-style events will be Robert Reuss, Jim Carter, Jim Muckenfuss, and Dick Zucker. Wesley Welborne will provide tough competition in the 100-yard backstroke event. Other boys showing promise are Joe Compositor, Paul Day, Wayne Stephenson, and Ken Lockard.

The Big Red mermen will be the team to watch next year as Coach Hundermer hopes to develop a championship team that will break the winning streak of Walnut Hills.

Matmen master muscle-feats to cinch second on slate

I hope you will always remember the upside down. Best wishes always, and you really should be in Hollywood. Mike Freeman '57

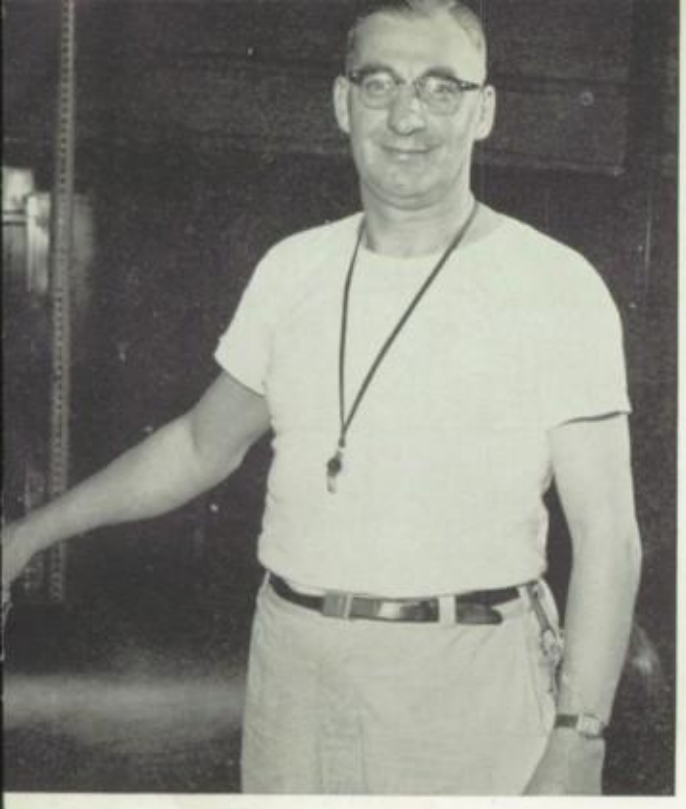
The Big Red "Matmen," coached by Mr. Paul Richert, won second place in the Public High School League, their top competitors being the Central Hornets. Hughes racked up 32 points in the first meet, 37 points in the second meet, and 41 points in the final meet, making a total of 110 points for all three meets, as compared with the 213 points scored by Central.

The Reserve Team came out in last place while the Junior High Team placed second, losing only to Bloom School by a scant two points, 604-602.

After the completed season, Hughes ranked second in the Turner Gym Meet. Tallies stood: Central 75½ points; Hughes 31½ points, and New Woodward, 5½ points.



COACH PAUL RICHERT

Bob Harrison warms up on the side horse.

Highflying Bob Harrison, captain, was top man on the rings and horizontals, placing first in all three meets. Tom Bepler placed third on the longhorse in two meets. Placing fifth in the first meet, but unable to participate in the other meets because of an injury, Cal Davis was also a longhorse man.

Bennet Smith placed second in the rope climb, while Mike Freeman took second and third places in the first three meets on the parallel bars. Mike also placed second and third in two meets on the rings. Al Bailer took fourth and third places in two side horse events, and Joe Combs did fifth place work for three events in tumbling and three events on the horizontal bars.

Jim and Nick Parthenakis performed side horse and parallel bar feats. Jim Raines took third and fourth places in tumbling, while Bob Houser claimed fourth place in the second meet and fourth place in the third meet.

The power of the Hughes "strongmen" was reduced by the loss of Alan Braley, a horizontal bar man who suffered an injury early in the season. Bob Perkins also suffered from a back injury.

Up and coming gym men who led the Reserves this year are Roger Wedgewood, Tom Schimpf, Larry Morrison, Ron Adler, and Dale Klosterman. Promising Junior High "matmen" include Don Willmonth, Tom Parthenakis, Charley Riley, and Leroy Eslinger.

Keglers roll first, crushing competitors

The Hughes Keglers earned their first undisputed P.H.S.L. bowling championship by winning 21 contests in 24 starts. This year's Big Reds, led by Captain Bob Peetz, was the best bowling team Hughes has ever had, according to Mr. Richard Thornbury, who has been coaching at Hughes for five years.

In the Intramural League, which is open to all students, the "Pin Boys" claimed the championship by winning 42 contests, while dropping only 12. This team was composed of Bob Peetz, captain, John Pfetzing, Rosalie Haas, Susan Werner, and Ken Keller.

Leroy Nash won the top average of the Intramural League with a tally of 179. The "Lucky Strikes" had the highest game total with a 761 score.

The Big Red Varsity Keglers finished the season with an amazing 850 game average. Their top game was 996. Captain Bob Peetz had the highest average on the team, chalking up a 181 score.

The average of the other team members were:

Leroy Nash 176
Ralph Derby 169
Bill Kennedy 168
Bruce Prewitt 159
Don Aker 158

Final league standings for the champion keglers were:

Team	Won	Lost	Average
Hughes	21	3	850
Withrow	18	6	833
Walnut Hills	12	12	802
Western Hills	5	19	769
Central	4	20	758

After finishing second in the P.H.S.L. competition for the last two years, the Big Red baseball men are looking forward to an even better season.

Under the coaching of Ray Hartker, this year's team will have five returning lettermen. Leading the "sluggers" are Ray Apple, Dreman Cook, Jim Grimes, Walt Peters, and Tom Jaeger.

Members of last year's Reserve Team who are expected to give a helping hand on this year's varsity squad in competing for the diamond crown are Joe Breiner, Bill Betts, Ron Walker, and Barry Riess.

The Big Red baseballers are scheduled for fifteen contests this season, beginning on April 2. Coach Ray Hartker comments that if every member of the team put his best into each game, the baseball boys could go a long way.

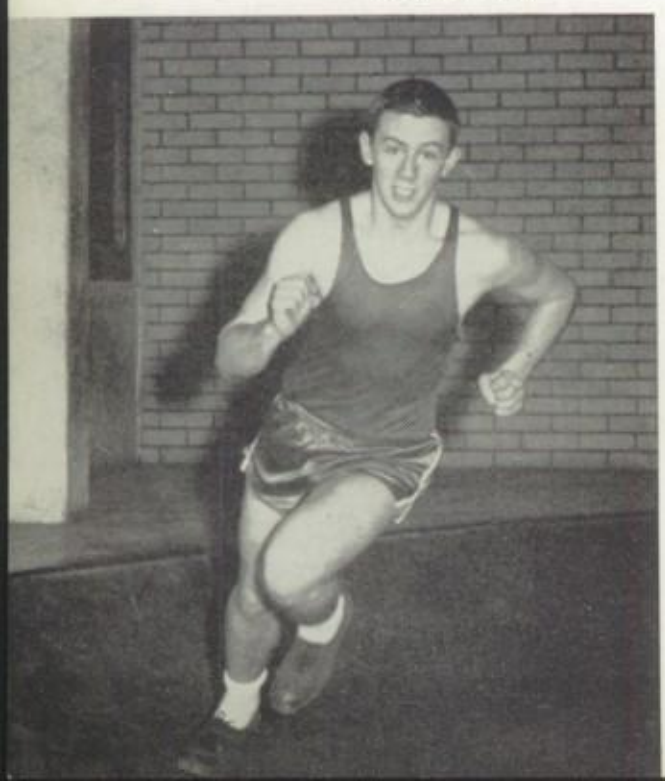
Hank Schwarz practices to perfect his time.



Hughes "Cindermen" of 1956 have a good chance to win both the city and district championships, under the coaching skill of Paul Richert. Because of its early deadline, the Annual is unable to give results.

1955 saw the Big Reds finish first in the P.H.S.L. competition and also capture first place in the district meets. The team was then invited to participate in the P.H.S.L. Invitational Relay Meet, in which they again walked away with first place honors. The track men also took second place in the Withrow Relay. In state competition, Hughes finished seventeenth out of a total of forty-six teams. Bill Edwards finished second in the half-mile race in the state meet.

Seven lettermen return for Hughes this season. Leading the team are Bob Harrison, Calvin Davis, John Hochstrasser, Jim Carter, Hank Schwarz, Tom Bepler, and Clarence Rutland.

The junior "Cindermen" finished fifth in the city track meets last year. However, these younger track men show great promise for future years.

Coach Paul Richert looks on as Hank Schwarz passes the baton to John Hochstrasser.

Big Reds rank high in racquet race

Coach Howard Grimes and the 1956 Big Red Racquet Swingers are hoping to top last season's performance of five won and nine lost.

This year's tennis squad is boosted by returning lettermen Donn Goebel, Dick Prather, and Jerry Bowling. Other members of the hard-swinging tennis team are Ken Keller, Pat Breen, and Bob Kaeser.

The returning racqueteers worked diligently throughout last summer with Richard Prather, a returning senior, perfecting their forward drives, backhands, and serves. Dick played his best tennis in the Junior Commerce Tournament, while Donn Goebel and Jerry Bowling, also returning seniors, finished well up in the Ohio Valley Tennis Tourney.

Coach Morgan Jones points out the proper grip to Paul Mueller, Jack Farrell, and Bob Perkins.

Linksters try for golf championship

Hughes Golf Team, after finishing second last season, was expected to win the P.H.S.L. crown this year. Mr. Morgan Jones, Hughes teacher and golf professional, coached the team. Sparked by returning lettermen, Dick Jones, Jack Farrell, and Paul Mueller, the 1956 squad was capable of gaining complete command of the fairways.

Dick Jones, three times a letterman and holder of many junior golf honors, was expected to capture first place in this year's contingent. Dick scores in the low seventies for eighteen holes. Jack Farrell, twice a letter-winner and a high-seventy shooter, was expected to capture second position on the team. Paul Mueller, who had already earned one letter, was expected to capture third place. Paul is a consistent low-eighty shooter.

G. A. A. stimulates interest in sports

Mrs. Rita Lacher, Miss Maude Suter, Miss Jeannette Nurre, and Miss Sarah Compton spend many hours instructing G.A.A. sports.

"For when the one great scorer comes
To mark against your name,
He marks not if you won or lost,
But how you played the game."

The tempting aroma of food brings these hungry G.A.A. picnickers running.

Peg Stewart, Gerri Crandall, Janet Acker, Joan Riehle, and Janice Krell take time out from their duties as G.A.A. officers to smile for our camera.

Diane Drohan, 1955 Honor Girl, serves an ace.

G.A.A. pledge, Metta Wondrack, is initiated by Peg Stewart, Gerri Crandall, Janet Acker, Joan Riehle, and Janice Krell.

The Girls' Athletic Association, founded in 1937, has continued through the years to encourage girls to participate in many sports. The time-honored trait of good sportsmanship is greatly emphasized in all G.A.A. activities and in their motto, printed on the opposite page.

This year's G.A.A. officers were Peg Stewart, president; Gerri Crandall, vice-president; Janet Acker, secretary; Joan Riehle, treasurer; and, Janice Krell, activities chairman. The officers were assisted by an executive board made up of the sportsleaders.

The initiation was held on February 2. To become a member, each girl was required to have 50 points obtained by participating in various sports.

Awards were given out at the banquet held at the end of the year. New officers were elected to carry on G.A.A.'s traditions for 1957.

These G.A.A. picnickers agree that a picnic is nothing without food and songs.

Miriam Reynolds, Carol Elwood, Carol Smith, Joan Riehle, and Donna Backer begin their trek to Fairview Park for a rugged practice session.

Hockey has a "field day"

Joyce Scheibling and Jane Husman "bully" at the start of a new game.

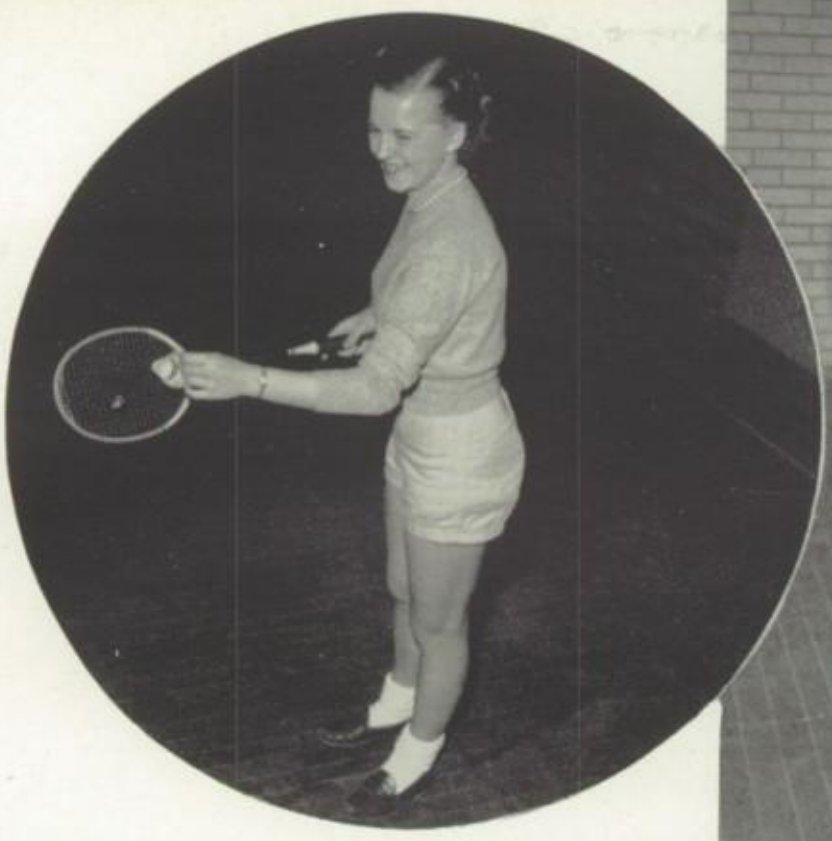
Band-aids and iodine — vital necessities for Hughes' hardy "pucksters."

Tuesdays and Thursdays saw the faithful members of the Big Red Hockey Team perfecting their techniques. Mrs. Rita Lacher and Miss Sarah Compton, able instructors of the team, were always on hand to referee and advise each session.

Due to unpleasant weather, the Hockey Playday at Walnut Hills was called off. However, the season was climaxed on November 10 by an encounter with New Woodward's honor team. The fast-moving game ended in a tie of 1-1.

Joyce Scheibling, this year's sportsleader, was responsible for keeping a record of the attendance and for checking the equipment.

The outstanding members of the team selected by Mrs. Lacher were Peg Stewart, Carol Smith, Gerri Crandall, and Joyce Scheibling. Although field hockey is a rugged game, these G.A.A. girls enjoyed it thoroughly.



Linda Jo Morrison begins a serve.

Delores Brown and Janice Krell attempt to score.

Variety in games spurs enthusiasm

G.A.A. activities which involve only two girls competing in a game are classified as Individual Sports. Ping-pong, badminton, shuffleboard, and horseshoes were played on Wednesday evenings each week during the spring. Each sport is played in the form of a tournament in which the loss of one game makes a girl ineligible to continue.

Miss Nurre, assisted by the sportsleader, Linda Jo Morrison, prepared a tournament schedule. The tournament continued until one player won the top rank in each sport.

Harriet Perkins proves that ping pong requires concentration.

Sue Curry and Maro Adams compute their scores as they pick up the horseshoes.

This girl's quick reaction could win the volleyball game.

Volleyball nets a winning season

The exciting, fast-moving game of volleyball was played during the chilly winter months. Under the direction of Peggy Biedenkapp, sportsleader, and Mrs. Rita Lacher, the girls were divided into seven teams. They were: "Joyce's Crazy Netters," "The Aces," "Tex Heptains," "Team Four," "Team Five," "Team Six," and "Rayettes."

Tuesdays and Thursdays were the days on which these intramural games were played. In the final tally, the team called "The Aces" came out victorious.

On January 13, the Volleyball Playday was held at Withrow and at Walnut Hills. Hughes was represented by six teams. Nine wins and three losses climaxed the year by putting Hughes in second place.

Only a volleyball could have luck enough to be surrounded by all these lovelies.

Score goes up as basketeers boost ball

No, it's not a game of blindman's buff; it's the "Battle of the Sexes" basketball game.

Peg Stewart seems suspended in space as she tries a jump shot, and Nellie Lawson, Jo Ann Leaf, Peg Bronston, and Barb Thompson try for the rebound.

The Big Red Varsity Team has nothing on the G.A.A. girls. That is proven each year in the "Battle of the Sexes Game." This year the game was on April 6 and the G.A.A. Honor Team again displayed its superiority by hopelessly defeating the Boys' Varsity Basketball Team.

The G.A.A. Honor Team was chosen from the members who faithfully attended the practice sessions on each Tuesday and Thursday during the late winter months.

The teams were coached by Mrs. Rita Lacher, assisted by sportsleader, Barbara Thompson.

Although the girls' basketball rules differ from the boys', the girls manage to stay on top in their own field.

Modern dancing interprets moods

Moira Kennedy and her group demonstrate grace and split-second timing.

Ready, aim, shoot . . . Bull'seye

The age-old art of Sherwood Forest is demonstrated by Jackie Flora, Ruth Stahlmann, Carmen Bereskin, Esther Stephens, and Joyce Rahe . . . in Burnet Woods.

A B O V E

Modern dancing, the G.A.A. sport which develops poise, was practiced every Wednesday during the winter months.

Miss Sarah Compton, new at Hughes this year, taught the girls graceful steps of self-expression. Myrtle Smith, this year's sportsleader, and the other girls danced to the strains of beautiful music provided by Miss Compton's records.

Since Modern Dancing has no playday, on February 4 an annual symposium was held at Western Hills for every school in the city. The symposium highlighted a spectacular year.

B E L O W

Each Wednesday afternoon during the fall, a few fearless spectators risked their lives when they entered the girls' gym during archery practice.

The girls were divided into two groups, the Beginners and the Intermediates. The girls let their arrows fly fast and furiously in preparation for the tournament. Winner of the Beginners was Nancy Shawhan with a sum of 37 points. Rosetta Buise, totalling 54 points, won the top rank in the Intermediates tournament.

The sportsleader, Judy Crandall, was in charge of recording the attendance and getting out the equipment. The girls enjoyed this ancient art under the direction of Miss Jeannette Nurre.

Junior High gets kicks

In the nick of time, Ruth Stahlmann dodges a ball thrown by Jean Stevens.

A B O V E

As the leaves turned red and gold and the air grew crisp, the Junior G.A.A. girls competed in intramural kickball.

Each Monday the three teams into which the girls were divided vied for first place. The Dynamites, captained by Alice Heuck, became the champion team.

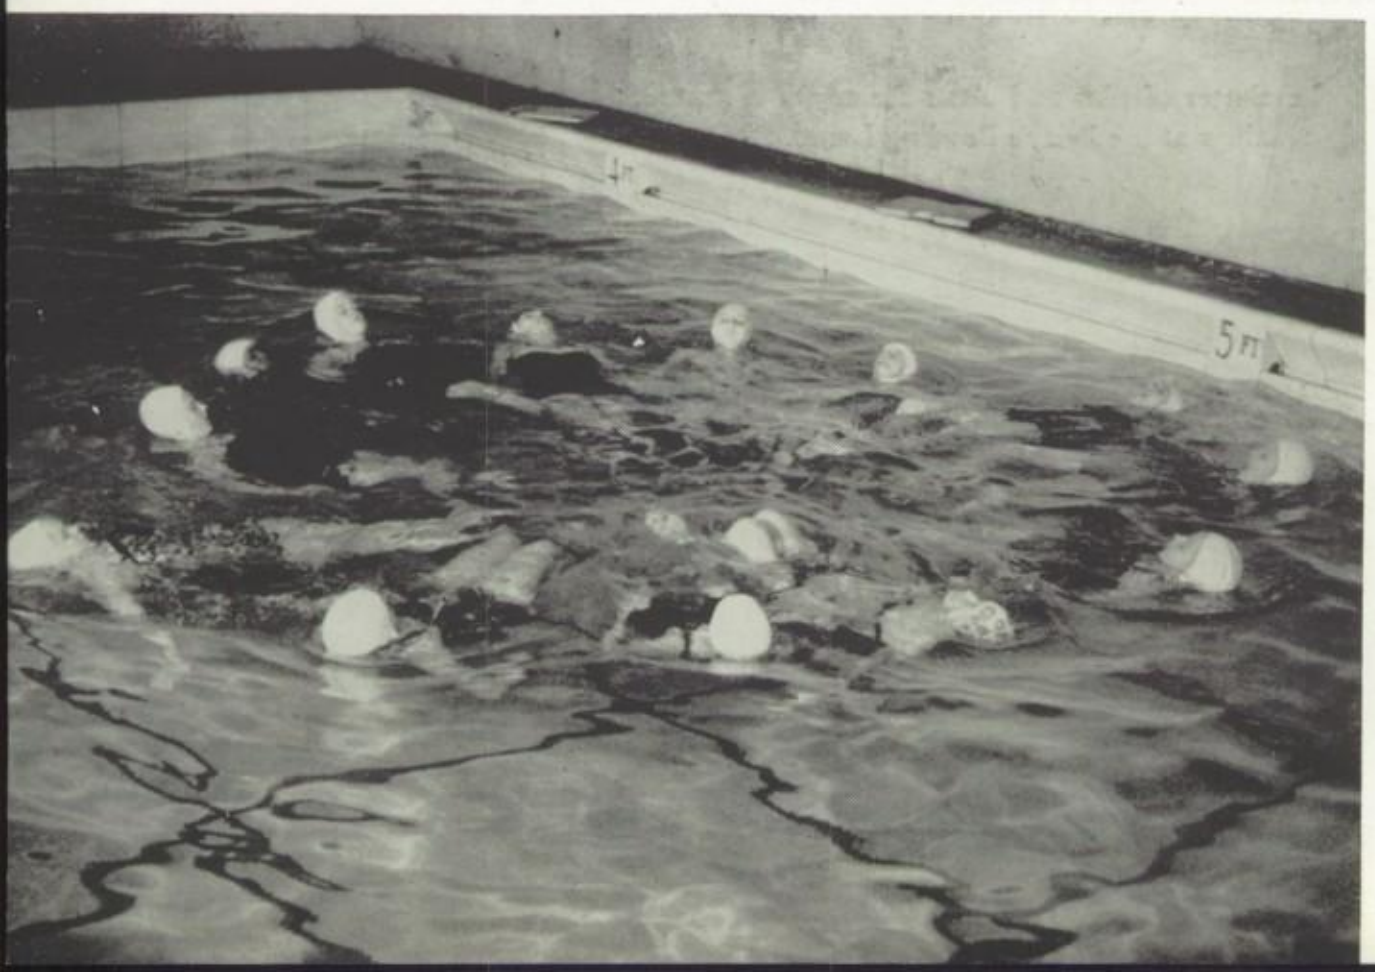
Miss Jeanette Nurre both instructed and refereed the games. Ruth Stahlmann, the sportsleader, took the attendance and kept the scores.

Although only one team became champion, the other team considered their time well spent.

B E L O W

Although only one team became champion, the other teams considered their during the winter, G.A.A.'s mermaids invaded the boys' swimming pool to perfect their aquatic grace and ability.

Under the able instruction of Miss Jeannette Nurre, the Hughes water sprites laughed while they learned three different methods of swimming—the side stroke, the breast stroke, and the crawl. Carol Elwood, sportsleader, joined the others in the pool to practice strokes, to dive, to race, and to frolic. Any fish would be happy to swim with these aquatic beauties.



Mermaids plunge and float

Now we can see why certain boys insisted that these mermaids needed lifeguards.

Only a few hundred more pins and Shirley Price will have a perfect game.

Bowlers knock 'em again

With an approach like that of Carol Tsaras, who could miss?

The clatter of pins and often the cry of a wounded pin-boy were heard on Monday evenings at the Friar's Bowling Lanes.

At these sessions, the Senior Bowling League, headed by Carol Tsaras, participated in competitive bowling. The boys and girls who engaged in this sport were put into ten teams of five members each.

Miss Sarah Compton acted as adviser, while Mr. Richard Thornbury gave helpful hints on bowling.

The freshmen, sophomores, and juniors, not to be outdone, formed a Junior Bowling League. The Junior League was headed by Joyce Scheibling. This league also bowled at the Friar's Lanes, and each Wednesday the lanes buzzed with activity as the keglers donned bowling shoes and selected their balls.

Disagreements often arose concerning scores which were computed wrong, but strikes, spares, and even gutter balls added up to fun and enjoyment for all.

Tennis, Love go together

Peg Stewart and Iva Sherrill congratulate Joan Widmer and Pat Reddert after a strenuous game.

A B O V E

Springtime brought a buzz of activity to Coy Field as the G.A.A. tennis stars began practicing. After dividing the girls into two groups, Miss Jeannette Nurre taught them to serve with accuracy and speed, placing the ball in the corner hardest for the opponent to reach. Then she demonstrated both the forehand and the backhand return, as well as other strokes essential for a good game.

Enthusiasm ran high on Mondays for, on that day, Pat Reddert, sportsleader, and her eager troupe, full of the necessary vim and vigor, enjoyed perfecting their tennis form.

B E L O W

On warm sunny days, fragrant with the scent of Spring flowers, Fairview Park echoed to the shouts of the G.A.A. softball teams at play. Every Tuesday and Thursday, the girls made the journey to this park for their enthusiastic sessions on the diamond, always accompanied by Linda Charley, 1956 sportsleader.

When not kept busy dodging thrown bats and misdirected balls, Mrs. Rita Lacher acted as umpire and instructor. Although the G.A.A. softball teams could not put the Redlegs to shame, they undoubtedly had more fun.

Co-ed Congress copes with student needs

Student Council, the Hughes student governing body, is under the sponsorship of Miss Gladys J. Kloak. Representatives from each homeroom meet once a month to discuss various problems pertaining to student participation in school maintenance. The drinking fountains are kept running properly, and food prices are posted in the lunchroom.

As in previous years, the Council sold candy, managed the Lost and Found Department, presented an assembly featuring classical music, and actively participated in the Inter-City Student Council, which Hughes initiated last year.

This year, the Council launched a campaign to clean up the school, and printed booklets containing club information to be sent to schools having students entering Hughes next year.

The Council marked the Thanksgiving season by donating canned goods and money to the less fortunate. A scrapbook for the Children's Convalescent Home was made by the members at Christmas time.

The year's main project was to revise the Junior High Point System. Correspondingly, the only award a Junior High can obtain is a card for having the most activities throughout the year.

The Honor League Tea is the highlight of the yuletide season.

Paula Gooder compliments the tea chairmen, Carol Tsaras and Harriet Perkins.

Honor League, one of the oldest service organizations in the school, is composed of senior girls who have proved themselves good Hughes citizens, and have maintained a C average or above for two and a half years. The fifteen girls elected to the Honor League Board meet with the two sponsors, Mrs. Enolia Heile and Miss Aria Parke Schawe, on the second Tuesday of each month to carry on the work of the organization.

In June of each year the outgoing board and the fifteen Junior girls elected to the new board hold a joint picnic to formulate plans, especially for the Big and Little Sister Party, an event of early September. Each senior girl is given one or two seventh grade girls as "little sisters," and her duty is to befriend these newcomers and to help them to become properly oriented. At the party, the senior girls provide favors and an entertaining talent show.

The Freshie Aids and Information Desk helpers are selected by the Honor League. At Thanksgiving, baskets of foods are donated to needy families. This year, proceeds of the well-attended Fashion Show, which was a display of Easter wardrobes put on by Shillito's, aided the Honor League Scholarship Fund.

The Honor League Christmas Tea, held in the library, is always a much-welcomed social event where teachers, Honor League post graduates, Honor League girls, and their mothers mingle. This year all the decorations, even the Christmas tree, were in gold, turquoise, and white. The Hughes String Quartet furnished the musical background.

The Hughes Club, founded in 1919 by Mr. Elmer W. Kizer, is composed of junior and senior boys who have high scholastic ability and good character. In 1947, Mr. Ben F. Fulks became advisor of the club, which has now become the largest service organization in the school.

The boys meet every second and fourth Mondays of the month. Members absent from two consecutive meetings are dropped from the club.

Among the club's yearly activities are the selling of sportswear and the sponsoring of the John Alden-Priscilla Dance at Thanksgiving time. The most awaited activity of Hughes Club occurs when the month of June arrives, and car wheels roll toward Brown County State Park in Indiana for a fun-filled week-end. Here the boys join in hiking, swimming, and baseball, and take a short vacation from the monotonous toil of schoolwork. All too soon the hours of the week-end are over, and the boys find themselves homeward bound with memories that will never fade.

Hughes Club Juniors follow Seniors' lead

Contributions made to its Alma Mater by Hughes Club include a trophy case in the front hall, an entrance clock, a front hall bulletin board, motion picture equipment, Gym Team uniforms, a television set, and school amplifiers. Contributing to the Christmas Fund and setting up a "Chamber of Horrors" at the biennial carnival also prove the willingness of Hughes Club to back school projects.

At the first meeting of the year, new junior members are informally and formally initiated into the club and are required to accomplish such feats as winning a tug-of-war and finding gum in a pan of flour. The final meeting is devoted to the election of senior officers. Those eligible for an office may miss only two meetings during the year.

Outstanding speakers, movies, and performers entertain the boys following each business session. One outstanding speaker this year was Reverend Schrieber.

The moment when John Biedenkapp and Peg Stewart were crowned John Alden and Priscilla won't be forgotten.
Hughes Club Executive Board meets early one morning.

To Helen
Lots of luck and happiness in anything you do —
Charles Hanekamp

Honor Society cites scholastic success

The Hughes Honor Society, which stands for the highest in scholastic achievement, was formed in 1948 by Miss Helen Bejach and Mrs. Edna Leroy. It is a separate organization from the National Honor Society and Cum Laude.

The six juniors with the highest average grades are admitted to membership at the end of their junior year. They form the executive board during their senior year. The seniors who graduate in the top tenth of their class are later admitted.

The chief activities of the Honor Society are the Honor Tea, held in February for all the students maintaining a B average for half a year, and the banquet in April for all the newly-elected members.

To Helen's Best of luck in all that you do. Never forget those evenings in the library. It's a wonder we all didn't get excited. Best wishes to a sweet girl.
Mary

Hi-Y maintains Christian fellowship

Hi-Y was reorganized in 1943 by its present sponsor, Mr. Paul Bowers. Its limited membership is composed of junior and senior boys having outstanding character.

Hi-Y represents a unity of fellowship whose purpose is to create, maintain, and extend high standards of Christian character.

In order to be considered for membership, a boy must be in good standing with Hughes Club and must present a paragraph stating why he desires to become a member.

Caroling at Christmas, visiting the County Home, presenting a Christmas play written by Mr. Robert Portune, and holding religious Easter services before school are but a few of the organization's activities.

Miss Dorothy S. Hoffman was unmasked as "Mr. X" this year at Hi-Y's dance. The club took an active part in the Model Legislature Convention at Columbus, Ohio. The fellows visit the church of one of the members monthly for religious services.

One of the biggest honors came to the Hughes Hi-Y chapter when they initiated members into various Cincinnati chapters in a special service witnessed by the public high school principals of Hamilton County.

Senior Y-Teens, under the leadership of Miss Dorothy S. Hoffman, is a world-wide Christian organization. At Hughes, it was formed to further religion and fellowship in the everyday lives of its members.

The year's activities started off with a bang as the Y-Teeners launched their annual Ice-Breaker party, to render a hearty welcome to the new Y-Teen members. At Christmas time the club caroled at five institutions and hospitals in the Cincinnati area. For three days during the yuletide season the girls conducted worship services before school. On Valentine's Day the members took time out and brought a bit of cheer to the children at the Convalescent Home.

For the first time a joint meeting of Hi-Y and Y-Teens was held. A panel was formed to discuss boy-girl relations. One Sunday each month the girls formed a closer unity by joining in religion at various churches.

Junior Y-Teens also serve

Junior Y-Teens, started in 1954 when Hughes acquired a Junior High, offers a new interest to many junior high girls and helps them to make a name for themselves. Mrs. Mary Doepke took on the responsibility of putting this brand new organization "on the map." With the aid of this able sponsor and its capable president, the club avoided many of the trials of a beginning group.

Junior Y-Teens promotes thoughtfulness for others, getting along with people, and effective leadership. Striving to achieve these aims makes membership in the club an invaluable experience when the girls become upperclassmen.

This year's activities included a successful Ice-Breaker Party, a lecture on dating by Miss Dorothy S. Hoffman, a cosmetic demonstration, and an open school dance. The potato ,chip sale in the spring was the biggest money-making project of the year. For the first time, a Mother and Daughter Banquet was held.

Krueck Club builds character

Krueck Club, sponsored by Howard "Burley" Grimes, was formed in 1948 through a plan of Hi-Y. The club, named after Edward "Red" Krueck, former Hughes coach, is composed of freshmen and sophomore boys with outstanding character. Its principles are clean living, clean speech, clean sportsmanship, clean scholarship, and willing service.

The club sells football and basketball schedule pencils. With the money earned, Krueck Club contributed a tape-recorder to the school, and furnished a school events calendar for each student. In December mistletoe was sold for the Christmas Fund.

Huzettes upholds high ideals

Huzettes, sponsored by Miss Ann Rasche, is an honor organization for ninth and tenth grade girls at Hughes. Two eighth graders from each elementary school are selected by their own school principals for membership in the organization. Ten more girls are invited to join in their ninth year at Hughes.

Scholarship, leadership, and citizenship are the necessary qualities for membership in this service club.

Charity projects include contributing to the Christmas Fund by selling candy, caroling at Longview, and visiting the less fortunate at Easter. A date party and hayride are the social activities of the club.

Council co-ordinates social club affairs

Good Luck to a nice girl whom I'm glad got to know this year. Hope you have a ball A college. Spill. x5 E.

Interfratority Council, the governing body for the Hughes High sororities and fraternities, is under the leadership and guidance of Miss Hazel Koppenhoefer and Mr. Paul Bowers.

The officers of this governing body are: Bill Hewett, President; Nancy Burton, Vice President; Dreman Cook, Treasurer; and Roberta Wagner, Secretary. Representatives of each sorority and fraternity compose the council, which acts as a liason between the school and its social groups, promoting more perfect co-ordination between the two.

This year the council participated in Christmas caroling, visited the Home of the Blind, sent a Thanksgiving basket to a needy family, contributed to the Cancer Fund, and gave one hundred dollars to a deserving student.

The Interfratority Council registers the affairs of the different clubs on the calandar made by Student Council each month in order to prevent conflicting dates.

H-Club acknowledges athletic ability

"Am I proud I'm in H-Club!" exclaimed a senior who had just been elected to this honor club composed of boys who have earned one or more letters in any of the sports at Hughes.

Formed in 1948 by Coach Alan Kindschy, its present sponsor, and by Mr. Dwight Smith, H-Club promotes good sportsmanship, integrity, high ideals, and good character. Among the many activities of the organization this year were the sale of programs at the football preview, and the sale of cokes at various concerts and plays given at Hughes. When Carnival time rolled around the boys helped the mothers with the Rummage Sale by collecting and sorting the goods to be sold.

The biggest event of the H-Club year was the sponsoring of the annual Queen of Sports Dance. The members of the club nominate girls to represent each varsity sport. Nancy Burton, representing golf, was crowned Queen of Sports for 1956.

Assembling once a month, members of Togati, the Latin Club at Hughes, study and enjoy Latin outside the classroom. The term "Togati" refers to the dress of men in ancient Roman times. The Latin Club adopted the name because the Romans usually wore togas when attending a meeting.

Monthly programs of the organization compare ancient and modern holidays, elections, and habits. Feature travel pictures of Greece and Rome, and speakers distinguished in the field of classics or archeology added to the interest of the meetings.

This year the organization is unusually large, and Miss Gladys Busch, sponsor, is present at all times to assist and advise the members, as she has always done in the previous years of Togati.

One of the most outstanding functions of this language club is their selling of greeting cards. The money made from the sales is donated to help increase the annual Christmas Fund. A greeting card booth is also set up for the biennial Carnival.

First Row: Frank Loveland, George Bitsoff, Donna Disser, Dave Ripper, Nancy Shawhan, Sue Curry, Wilmer Gangloff, Jackie Julian, Gloria Saylor, Clarice Addison, David Evans, Loretta Minnick, Philip Diehl. Spanish Club, "La Tertulia," has the honor of being the oldest language organization at Hughes. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Edmund J. Carney, the club is trying to initiate a real enthusiasm in the language, customs, geography and history of the land, and in the people of the Spanish-speaking countries.

Meetings were held once a month, at which programs were planned that would be of interest to the pupils and yet would be educational. Very often a Spanish film was shown, and at Christmas a party was held. All the usual games of a real Spanish party were played. The club members sang yuletide carols and broke the "piñata," a bag containing gifts.

As a yearly charity project Spanish Club sends CARE backages across the ocean, and to our Spanish-speaking neighbors in Latin America.

As an incentive for conscientious work, the organization awards The Spanish Reader's Digest to the pupil with the highest four year grade average.

First Row: Celeste England, Jean Mayfield, Carole Bartholomew, Audrey Bland, La Vern Hammer, Linda Abbott. "Le temps vole" as Parisians parley

French Club, under the able sponsorship of Mrs. Mary Howell, was created to broaden the students' interest in French, and in the country, customs, and people of France. The club particularly aids the pupil in speaking French more fluently.

Le Cercle Francais begins its meetings in a businesslike manner, but usually ends them on a jovial note with games, songs, and refreshments. Every meeting opens with the singing of La Marseillaise, the national anthem of France, and reports are then rendered in French. Often a speaker is invited to present a film and lecture. During holiday seasons appropriate French games, celebrations, and songs are a part of the club meetings.

French Club is also a service organization. It donates money to CARE for food to be sent to a French orphanage. The orphans, in turn, correspond with the members of the club. The club contributes to the Hughes Christmas Fund, and assists with the Hughes Carnival.

Members of the German Club, under the able sponsorship of Mrs. Jannet Murphy, meet once a month to practice their conversational German, and to gain a better understanding of the land, people, and customs of Germany.

These purposes were accomplished this year by seeing several good movies on present-day Germany, by listening to the experiences of a professor of German at the University of Cincinnati who has travelled recently in Germany, and by singing German songs, and producing humorous German skits.

Anyone who is studying the language is eligible for membership in the club, but some knowledge of the spoken language is essential, as meetings are conducted in German.

One of the most worthwhile yearly projects is the sending of Care packages overseas. One of the most memorable meetings is the annual picnic in Burnet Woods.

Sales Club make sales

Salesmanship Club, organized by Miss Mary McSurely, is one of the oldest organizations at Hughes. The club was established by the former salesmanship teacher to encourage students to go into different selling occupations, and to have a better knowledge of the selling and advertising that is done in the retail stores.

The meetings are held during class time, about once a month. Speakers from the Sales Executive Council speak to the members on various phases of selling. This council gives an annual spring banquet to which two members from each sales class are invited.

Miss Elizabeth Shields, who is the advisor, gives her time not only in the classroom, but also in finding part-time jobs where her students can gain experience in the selling and advertising fields.

At Thanksgiving the group helps a needy family and during the yuletide season boosts the Christmas Fund by selling corsages. At the close of the year the club celebrates with a picnic at Burnet Woods.

First Row: Judy Childers (Treasurer), Betsy McKinley (President), Marcia Wolosin (Recording Secretary). Second Row: Carolyn Jaeger, Bernice Stewart, Lila Knight, Carl Servizzi, Bob Jones, Charles Norton, Jerry Black, Dale Lister, Gurdeen Foster, Este Skinner, La Rue Skinner. Founded and sponsored by Mr. Charles Geraci, Beta Chi, now in its third year, is the only business club at Hughes. The main objective of the organization is to help students get a better insight into the world of business which they will enter after graduation.

In chartered buses, the seventy members made interesting inspection trips to the Chevrolet plant and to Ivorydale, the Procter & Gamble plant, during the winter. In March, the club sponsored a Mr. Beta and Miss Chi dance, and in April, they organized an Ohio River cruise to Point Pleasant on the riverboat "Avalon."

Membership in the Merchandising Club, sponsored by Mrs. Elizabeth Shields, is limited to seniors who co-op in downtown department stores. Gaining experience in different types of selling, office work, and general merchandising information, students work three half-days a week, combining school work with practical experience.

At the conclusion of the year a cash award is presented to the outstanding student in the merchandising course. Merchandising is valuable when the time comes for the student to cope with problems of the business world.

The Hughes Math Club was founded ten years ago. Since then it has tried to further students' interest in higher mathematics and bring moments of mathematical pleasure outside the classroom.

The club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Clyde Hall, meets once a month for a social or an educational program. Included on the educational agenda this year was a movie on aluminum, and a talk on astronomy by Mr. P. J. Bauer. Parties at Christmas and on Valentine's Day highlighted the social aspect of the organization.

Minutes speed by when members of Chess Club become engrossed in learning how to perfect their game in preparation for contests with other high schools and some universities.

According to Mr. Murphy Doherty, the sponsor, Chess Club, which was founded ten years ago, boasts the largest membership of its entire history this year. Seven girls claim membership in the organization, a fact which disproves the idea that chess is a man's game. Teaching good sportsmanship, not only in chess, but in every phase of life, is the primary goal of Chess Club.

The Future Teachers of America, under the direction of Miss Marie Hunter, was formed to stimulate an interest in the teaching profession.

A very inspirational program was held at Taft High School. All the Future Teachers of Southwestern Ohio met to discuss the problems confronting those who plan on teaching as a profession. There was also an entertaining program at the University of Cincinnati Teachers' College. Exhibits were cleverly presented by the school "marms." A paper called the "F.T.A. Newsletter" is dedicated to news about the F.T.A. clubs in Cincinnati.

Young scientists seek truth

Junior Science Club, sponsored by Miss Helen B. Newman, is a comparatively new club composed entirely of seventh and eighth graders.

The main aim of Science Club is to stimulate further interest in the fascinating field of science. Talks, illustrated with slides and movies were given this year on such topics as jets, tropical fish, reptiles, birds, and pharmacy. Specimens were also displayed.

On March 5 Miss Newman and some club members appeared on WCET-TV for a program explaining how a science club is organized and functions successfully.

Pep Club stimulates spirit at game time

Pep Club, founded in 1950 by Mr. Milton Anderson and Mr. Robert MacSpadden, was organized to promote good school spirit in an organized cheering section at the game.

Mr. Milton Partridge and Miss Marilyn Doscher, now sponsors of the organization, help to promote pep by providing streamers, signs, shakers, buttons, and tags.

February spotlights the Cupid's Fling Dance where the King and Queen of Hearts are elected from the winners of the Senior Popularity Contest. In June, a senior showing outstanding school spirit is awarded a plaque.

The Youth for Christ Club, under the sponsorship of Miss Ruth Austin, is a small part of a world-wide, international, interdenominational organization. Its initial goal is to acquaint its participants with the religious background of the Christian Church as a whole.

This year the club took time to visit the Home for Incurables, to fill a Thanksgiving basket, and to go Christmas caroling. Various speakers have enlightened the members on basic differences among religious denominations and on the meaning of prayer. The organization anticipates more years of growth in the public schools.

B E L O W

Originating in 1925, Parlators took its name from the French verb "parler," meaning "to speak."

Although the major purpose of Parlators is to debate, members also participate in several speech competitions each year which include poetry readings and humorous declamations.

Parlators belongs to the Greater Cincinnati Speech League which is composed of eight parochial and public high schools. When debates are won, the winning team gets its name on a trophy.

Parlators, under the direction of Mr. Arthur Gray, last won a tournament in 1951.

Hepta Beta

Hepta Beta Sorority, originally formed by seven girls from Detroit, Michigan, is known to be one of the oldest social clubs at Hughes. Not only is it unique in its longstanding, but, also in the sorority pin. The name, Hepta, is derived from the heptagon which forms the pin. Seven shining pearls set on a silver crest symbolize the seven founders and compose the pin which members wear with pride and respect.

Numerous worthwhile activities balance the memorable, gay times in which the Hepta Beta girls participate. Donning baby-blue and white hats, Heptas went to several institutions during the yuletide season to bring cheer and carols to the patients.

One of the highlights of Hepta's year of '56 was a semi-formal dance given at Castle Farm. Hayrides, date parties, and spontaneous get-togethers added gaiety to the Heptas' calendar.

The lasting friendships engendered by the close relations of the sorority make for greater happiness both during the time spent in school and in the years following graduation.

Created in the spring of 1927 as a social organization, the members fo Tausia Sorority strive to live up to their goals of high scholastic achievement and high ideals. The strong foundation of Tausia imparts to her members a firm belief in God and encourages the girls to seek new religious and educational horizons.

The girls take pride in their numerous charitable activities which include a visit to Allen House, selling poppies for the crippled children, contributing Thanksgiving baskets, and making layettes for the less fortunate children.

The members balance these activities with a long list of social gatherings. These parties include a Christmas and Spring formal, a semi-formal and several date parties. This year Tausia sponsored a Twin-Twinkle date party. The novel idea of this party was that the girls and their dates dress alike. The girls also get together for slumber parties and money-making projects. This year's projects were selling Christmas wrapping paper and making toy poodles.

Kytyves

Kytyves was originally founded by twelve girls in October, 1932, and was known as the Delta Gamma Phi sorority. In November, 1934, the name was changed to Delta Kytyves Beta.

This small group of girls struggled to achieve success and recognition until, in 1935, it stood side by side with the sororities of background and long standing.

Social activities of the D.K.B. girls include dances, date parties, slumber parties, and various other events, all of which help to strengthen and cement the friendship of the girls and their loyalty to the organization.

The thrill of making new friends during the pledging, the happiness and tears at formal initiation, and the satisfaction they get from helping the less fortunate will remain in their hearts forever. One charitable activity that helps to mold a closer companionship among the girls is the yearly party for the less fortunate at Allen House.

This year the title of C.O.S. Sweetheart was attained by Kytyves' president, Arlene Stegner. Arlene received the fraternity lavaliere as a reminder of this happy moment.

In November of this year, Phi Epsilon Phi and Chi Delta Beta combined to organize a new sorority called Phi Chi. Ten eager girls spent a great deal of time planning the birth of this new sorority.

Their success has been outstanding and the girls have enjoyed planning new pins and encouraging social activities. Memories of the Christmas formal dinner and dance, and the charitable activities, which included a visit to the Veterans Home, will be cherished by all.

Alpha Beta Chi, created in May, 1951, was founded by a small group of girls at Withrow High School. Later girls from other schools sought membership and new chapters were formed.

The club is noted for its annual fashion show, a formal dance, and several charitable activities.

The purpose of the organization has been to create lasting friendships, to promote a well-rounded social life for all its members, and to encourage loyalty, faithfulness, and sincerity throughout the year.

Ivyette Sorority was founded by two members of Omicron and Sigma Omega Chapters of Alpha Kappa Sorority in the spring of 1945. The sorority's purpose is to encourage girls to plan for higher education and to help girls in leadership, development, and community participation.

Ivyettes is not a chapter sorority and is composed of 29 girls from Walnut Hills, Withrow, Taft, and Hughes.

These sorority sisters gave the annual Mr. and Miss Ivy Dance and also their annual talent show and dance. At Thanksgiving they took time to help a needy family.

In 1930 the Alpha Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi Sorority was founded at Withrow High School. The Beta Chapter was organized at Hughes in 1933.

Members take pride in their three annual projects and each girl taking an active part in these charitable undertakings finds herself living up to the club's motto.

The girls are proud of their black and gold pins which stand for high ideals, lasting friendships, and loyalty. Their caps of blue and white display the sorority insignia.

When Delta Beta Fraternity was founded at Hughes in 1889, all of its members were students of Greek. It is the oldest fraternal group in Cincinnati.

The objectives of Delta Beta are "to develop character, engender a fraternal spirit to promote intelligence among its members, and in general to exert a wholesome influence in school and community life."

Its purpose is "to promote benevolent, charitable, and social aspects, to encourage hospitality and friendship, literary culture and social improvement."

Chapters have since been established at Walnut Hills and Wyoming High Schools.

Chi Omega Sigma, a closely united fraternal fellowship, was formed in 1923 by a minister, as a Sunday School group. It then adopted a constitution as a fraternity and became the Alpha Chapter, having its home at Hughes. Chapters have since been established at Western Hills, Withrow, and New Woodward.

Each year the fraternity crowns its sweetheart at a dance. Excitement filled the Girls' Gym as the big moment arrived this year, and Arlene Stegner from Kytyves was named the "Sweetheart of C.O.S." for 1956.

Social activities of the boys include date parties, stag parties, hayrides, and dances. Participating in interfraternity sports provides the athletic activities of the club. Charity projects included contributing to the Cancer Fund, giving Thanksgiving baskets, and joining in the Interfratority caroling at Christmas.

When the 1955 rushing season rolled 'round the Chi Omega Sigma men gave both an informal and a formal party. Its traditional formal dinner was held at the Cincinnati Club. Finally the new pledges were formally initiated and joined in lasting friendship with their brothers.

Triginta Optimi differs from other social organizations at Hughes in that it is not a Greek letter society but rather of a Latin derivation. Triginta Optimi, which in Latin means "thirty of the best," was founded at Hughes in April of 1895.

The purpose of Triginta Optimi is to create and maintain a democratic high school fraternity through scholarship, good citizenship, and athletic achievement.

T.O. along with its other activities tries to promote the religious aspect of a fraternal group, rather than just the social aspect. Once each month the fraternity, as a whole, visits the church of one of its members.

Numerous social activities were held throughout the year, including the annual T.O. Junior Miss Dance. The members also take part in interfraternity sports and make several contributions to charitable organizations. The boys participate in the Interfratority caroling at Christmas.

Mr. Al Jordan, former Cincinnati councilman, serves as the fraternity's paternal advisor.

Tri Chi

Tri Chi organized at the Clifton Palace in 1946, was originally an athletic club at Withrow High School. Tri Chi stands for three openings to a better, more successful life through character, comradeship, and citizenship. Tri Chi is noted for their rules against smoking and drinking and they are constantly striving to meet the high ideals and morals that the club's previous members have established.

Tri Chi's social activities include their annual "Levi Leap," date parties, picnics, and hayrides. Other events as well as these tend to strengthen their friendship and loyalty to their club. Tri Chi makes various contributions to charitable organizations and needy families, and undertakes at least one community project annually. The members take part in the Interfratority caroling during the yuletide season.

The fraternity also tries to present a religious side to fraternal life by conducting an impressive ceremony for formal initiation, and by giving a prayer at the start of each meeting.

The organization holds an annual picnic and baseball game with Chi Omega Sigma Fraternity.

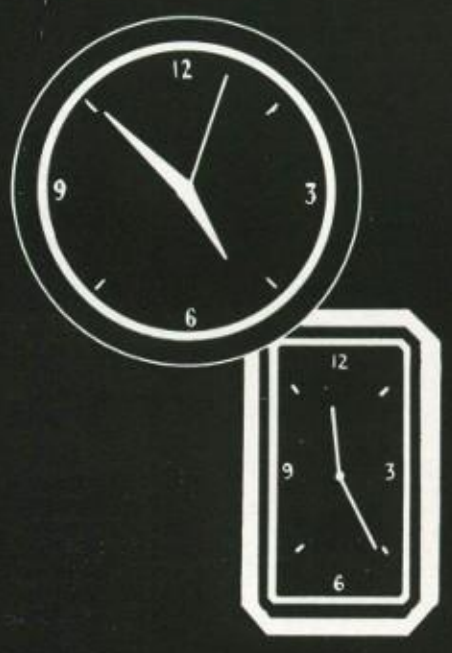
The Arts



Just as a time signature is necessary for a melody, so the Art Department is necessary for dramatic productions. When the curtain goes up, the audience applauds first the artistic scenery. Miss Frances Adomeit and Miss Marcella Schroth direct and advise the stage-set designers and painters. The display advertising for the productions, plays, dances, and the other activities is under the deft hand of Mr. John Michael. The eye-catching banners stretched across the front hall show the artistic skill of Hughes art students.

At Christmas time the classes of Mr. Paul Craft donated colorful creations of paper sculpture work for the classrom doors. Also making the spirit of the Yuletide live were the stairway and front hall decorations, done under the supervision of Miss Adomeit. The art gallery opposite the library is kept interesting throughout the year by frequent new exhibits done by the art classes.

Masters of media create the imaginary,

The canvas becomes the painting, the clay becomes a recognizable form, and the artist becomes a creator. The school takes on a more festive look as the Hughes Art Department devises appropriate decorations for the various seasons of the year. Many-hued posters and banners display the ingenuity of the Hughes artists in publicizing school activities. Timely are the ideas and finished works turned out under the directions of Miss Frances Adomeit, Miss Marcella Schroth, Mr. Paul Craft, and Mr. John Michael.

Cast members of "Time Out for Ginger" practice long hours to make opening night successful.

As the clock struck 8:15 p.m. on December 2, 1955, the lights dimmed, the audience hushed, and the curtains opened on "Time Out for Ginger."

Laughter of students, parents, and faculty filled the auditorium as Ronald Alexander's three-act comedy, concerned with the exploits of a teen-age girl, was enacted. The young lady's father, a man of principle, had lectured at a school assembly advising students to pursue happiness by being individualistic. Yet, when he discovered that his daughter had followed his advice by joining the boys' football team, he was really in hot water. How he extricated himself from this dilemma made the play an uproarious comedy.

Under the direction of Miss Mary E. Pollard, the players spent many hours of study on realistic interpretations of their various roles. Practice continued even up to curtain time for the matinee on December 1. Finally, the young actors faced the big moment. Their talents and their hours of toil resulted in a much-applauded sparkling entertainment.

Those participating in this production belong to Sages, the dramatic club at Hughes. This organization is not only open to actors, but also to students interested in make-up, costumes, properties, and stage crew work. The young performers meet one Tuesday afternoon each month to discuss dramatic efforts. Members themselves provide entertainment following the sessions.

By gaining the required number of points for acting and by rendering other services during the dramatic season, members of Sages may reach the ultimate goal in high school . . . membership in Thespians, a national organization for young people having actual experience in acting.

Frank Herrmann gives Carol Fessler (Ginger) hints on football as Norma May, Martha Runck, and Norma Mason look on.

On the pinrail are Russ Henke, Bill Kemner, and Bob Hailey who operate the curtains and various backdrops.

Bob Couch, Ken Keller, John Juhlman, Art Webber, and Daryl Creamer control the switchboard to make the stage lighting seem real.

Backstage world buzzes with busy crew

First-rate stage productions are vitally dependent upon the Stage Crew, headed by Jerry Stivers, and brilliantly directed by Mr. Robert Portune. The world-behind-the-scenes is kept busy regulating lighting, perfecting sound effects, maneuvering scenery, and caring for the props. Also active in the backstage domain is Miss Elizabeth Zorn, who, with tape measure and yard stick, does the initial planning for costumes. Directing the sale of tickets is Miss Ann Rasche.

MERRY GO ROUND

Once again the curtains rose on a panorama of glittering, saucy, fanciful, and dramatic musical-comedy . . . the Merry-Go-Round, under the title of "High Society." Written and directed by Mr. Robert Portune, the production abounded in lilting, catchy songs and overtures, which were under the baton of Mr. Herman H. Slayman. Mr. Bige Hammons directed the singing chorus and Senior Choir.

The nucleus of the theme was built around Henry, a bouncy, high school soda jerk, played by Charles Williamson. Norma May portrayed Millie Miller, an awkward, homely girl, unreasonably in love with Henry. The role of Hazel Hobson, aloof daughter of the principal, was enacted by Nancy Burton, while Frank Herrmann took the part of Spike, the loud-mouthed football hero. Tom Minnich, otherwise known as Principal Hobson, exclaimed in despair as Bill Thompson confessed his "pink"-ink forgery skill. By beforehand observance, Martha Runck and Sandy Wulff were able to give expert characterization to their parts as high school teachers. Margaret Morgan, owner of the soda shop, was in a continual whirl brought about by the usual dumb blonde, played by Bert Bramkamp. An uncanny ability to remember was a skill possessed by the character to which Carol Fessler gave herself. The "punchy" coach, Dick Junker, the Southern belle, Barbara Patton, and the hard-hearted professor, Paul Westermeyer, were not unreal as they exhibited confusion when confronted by Henry's ever-present dreams.

The audience all but erupted with laughter as the ten-man-strong chorus line of high-kicking, giggling youths took possession of the stage. This energetic and talented group of "danceurs" was trained by Roberta Bramkamp. Miss Virginia Garrett and Rita Fogel directed the girls' chorus lines.

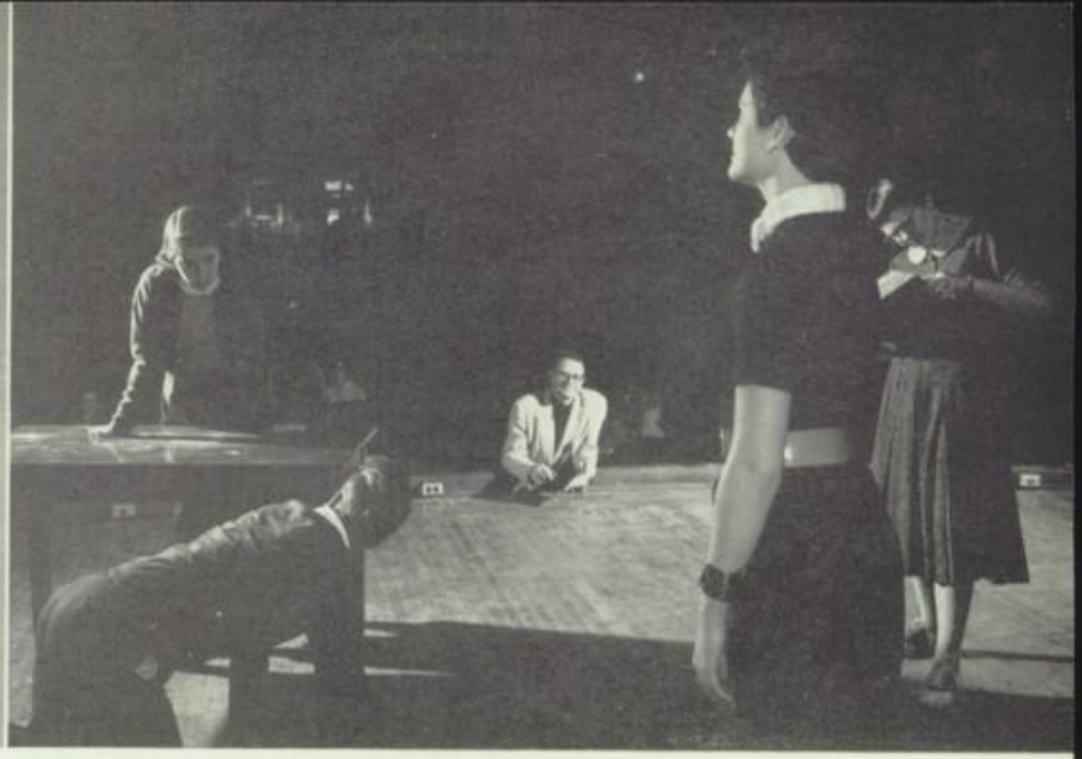
The final curtain could not separate the lively and sparkling cast of the '56 M-G-R from the bedazzled memories of the onlookers.

Jean Lauck dances as Paul Westermeyer and Lillian Sloane watch.

The pony chorus presents a saucy strut for audience approval.

Garnet Long observes as Metta May Wondrack displays perfect ballet form.

Sandy Wulff, Tom Minnich, and Margaret Morgan slap on make-up for opening night.



Mr. Robert Portune directs Nancy Burton, Charles Williamson, Norma May, and Carol Fessler in a practice session.

Curtain rises on dazzling musical-comedy

The Merry-Go-Round has been in existence at Hughes for the past seven years. Mr. Robert Portune has both written and directed this musical extravaganza for six years.

Behind the glamour and the glitter of the actual Merry-Go-Round performance, a crew of people are the life-line of the production. Make-up, the magic which transforms ordinary students into exciting thespians, was under the supervision of Miss Mary E. Pollard and Sages.

Without the endeavors of Miss Marcella Schroth and Miss Frances Adomeit and their troupes of stage-set creators, the cast would have found an empty, meaningless stage on which to play their parts. The sparkling costumes of the chorus lines were carefully stitched by Mrs. Joseph Biehle, under Miss Elizabeth Zorn's direction.

Not only the on-stage performers, but the hard-working stage crew are necessary to make a top-notch musical-comedy tick.

Frank Herrmann, Wanda Tompkins, Bill Thompson, Bert Bramkamp, Gloria Cox, and Sonya Stopper take a five-minute break.

Fifty-four orchestra members practiced daily throughout the year under the baton of Mr. Herman H. Slayman to achieve a diversified musical repertoire extending from the classical "Violin Concerto" by Beethoven to the modern "Fiddle Faddle" by Leroy Anderson.

For four months before the first performance of M-G-R, the hard-working orchestra struggled every day after school to perfect their playing of the new music.

A string quartette composed of Owen Dunsford, first violin; Hans Zobel, second violin; George Arthur, viola; and Carolyn Brockhuis, cello, entered several contests and presented a special assembly program.

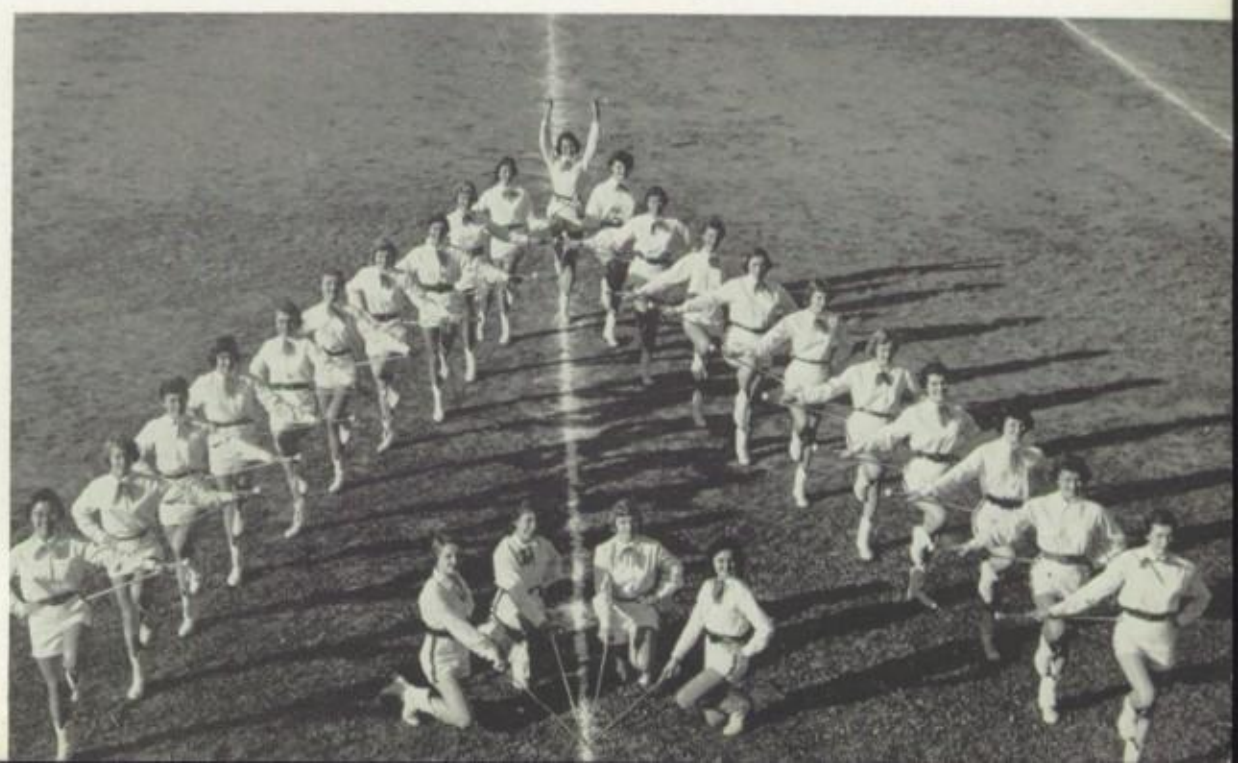
The marching musicians execute a novel routine under the glow of Trechter Stadium lights.

The Hughes Big Red Marching Band and majorettes stimulate the students' excitement at a pep rally.

The Rhythmettes add zest and spark to half-time shows.



In spite of rain, snow, and muddy fields, the Hughes Marching Band, under the direction of Mr. Herman H. Slayman, was always on hand in colorful uniforms to enliven every game, and to induce a better show of school spirit from all attending Huzites. High-stepping majorettes and the Rhythmettes led the well-drilled marching musicians in novel dance-like routines, which were delightful to see and hear.

For the last two years Senior Choir, sometimes called the A Cappella Choir, has been under the direction of Mr. Bige Hammons. Only the outstanding singers of Hughes are selected for this choir, which, during the year, has presented special programs for numerous assemblies, the Christmas Concert, the Eastertide Service, the Spring Concert, Merry-Go-Round, and for graduation. Ensemble, a group of twenty-six outstanding voices selected from the Senior Choir, had a special performance on WKRC-TV.

Heading the list of more than fifteen out-of-school engagements for the Senior Choir and Ensemble was their participation in the Cincinnati May Festival. Other performances were given at Mt. Airy School, Cincinnati Automobile Club, Women's Press Club, Engineers' Society, and Westwood Methodist Church.

Annual Staff completes tome

Almost constant was the work for the 1956 Annual. Planning began in May, 1955, when "the many facets of Time" was selected as the basic, universal theme. Then, in June, the co-editors, Tom Minnich and Judie Wittlin, and the advisor, Miss Aria Parke Schawe, spent two days of hard thinking with the printers in Nashville, Tenn., in laying out a complete dummy. The first picture was taken at the graduation exercises of the Class of 1955.

Although planning clever picture shots was the work of the editors, the advisor, and the section heads, the actual photography was done by the staff photographers, Stephen Menyhert and Jack Farrell. Pictures had to be scheduled, props and costumes arranged for, and students advised long in advance. Photographic assignment cards giving exact requirements for each picture were posted. Later, with the use of a proportional wheel, all glossy prints were cropped.

Every day during the sixth bell, after school, on holidays, and one evening a week, the editors, advisors, and key staff members worked in the Annual Room identifying and selecting pictures, composing captions and heads, writing and re-writing copy, and pounding typewriters to meet the March 1 deadline.

Numerous, too, were the responsibilities of the business managers, David Ames and Elaine Ellerhorst. During the summer they scheduled senior picture appointments. In the fall, with the help of the staff, they organized a sales campaign. Throughout the year they kept records of money turned in by homeroom representatives, paid and sent out bills, with the aid of Mr. Clyde Hall, financial advisor. Jerry Franks assisted in getting advertising and patronage ads.

Staff members assigned to certain sections were: Gloria Geisler and Nancy Burton, Seniors; Pat Clark and Barb Patton, Faculty; Betsy McKinley and Jim Phelps, Underclassmen; Polly Gooder, Anne Morrison, and Dick Junker, Organizations; Juanita Collins and Rosalie Haas, Girls' Sports; Steve Carter, Bill Hewett, and Dreman Cook, Boys' Sports; Roberta Bramkamp, LaVern Hammer, Judie Wittlin, and Tom Minnich, Arts (Art, Music, Publications, Drama, M-G-R). Very valuable assistants were the typists: Sue Parker, Marlene Tice, and Barbara Krohn.

The distribution staff settles matters of finance and circulation in the Alcove on Wednesday mornings.

Last year, the Gargoyle, prize-winning newspaper of Hughes High School, was rated as one of the top ten out of 1400 entries in the United States. Under the guidance of Miss Hazel L. Koppenhoefer, Faculty Advisor, the co-editors, Pauline Siebold and Barry Riess, assisted by the page editors, Janice Freckman, Jody Weghorst, and Tom Wagner, put out this weekly record of the important happenings at Hughes.

The saga of the behind-the-scenes thrill and satisfaction of planning a weekly paper took place in Room 206, the Gargoyle Room, every Tuesday night when the regular staffers buzzed with anticipation and news. Martha Runck enlivened the social column with sparkling comments on parties, while Nancy Burton assisted on the sports page. Bert Bramkamp, a veteran Gargoyler, kept readers waiting anxiously each week for her "Hughes Who."

Supervision of the paper's finances was under the control of Miss Gladys J. Kloak and the Business Manager, Charlene Clift. Each Wednesday morning the Gargoyles, hot off the press, were handed out to the homeroom representatives by the distribution staff, who had assembled in the Alcove for that purpose.

News coverage outside the school was handled by Pauline Siebold and Janice Freckman, who had the pleasure of interviewing Margaret O'Brien and Eddie Fisher backstage when these stars visited here in Cincinnati.

Staff meets Gargoyle's deadline

Tom Wagner and Sue Ziegler linger over the typewriter while Bert Bramkamp, Tom Oberschmidt, Evelyn Hafner, and Cleta Knoepfle show approval of the next week's Gargoyle layout.

"Keep Punching, Dad!"

Says Carol Porter

When I asked my Dad, Walter G. Porter, to put an advertisement in the Hughes High School Annual, he said, "Why don't you write it yourself? You have heard me talk about head-type Punches and Die Buttons, and our recently introduced BaL-Lok Punch and Die Buttons which are manufactured by PORTER PRECISION PRODUCTS OF CINCINNATI. You know, too, that these products are made of specially treated steel and hardened to absorb greater shock, which makes them last longer. Remember, we send them throughout the 48 states, and they are in use in many plants which have need for perforating punches.

"And, Carol, don't forget our new plant in Chicago, DURABLE PUNCH AND DIE COMPANY. They make special type punches, or perforators as we like to call them. Durable also manufacturers a patented Intermeshing Sleeve, which supports a punch as thin as a match stick that can punch a hole in metal many times the thickness of the punch diameter.

"This principle is simple, and you can explain it best by the example of a needle supported in a cork. You can drive the needle through a coin, because the cork supports the needle against buckling. We know; we have tried it.

"Now, Carol, if the dads of your high school chums need Perforator Punches, Die Buttons, or perhaps a new catalogue of either company, have them call PORTER PRECISION PRODUCTS, or write P. O. Box 208, Cincinnati 15, Ohio."
